Apex court ticks off CBI saying it must dispel notion of being a 'caged parrot'

SC RAPS CBI, GRANTS BAIL TO KEJRIWAL

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

HOURS after the Supreme Court granted him bail in the excise policy case filed by the CBI, Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal walked out of Tihar jail, and said, "the thick walls of prison cannot break me." While granting him bail, justices Surya Kant and Ujjal Bhuyan differed on the legality of his arrest. Justice Kant held that there was no impediment in arresting a person already in the custody. However, Justice Bhuyan castigated the CBI, saying it should not be seen as a 'caged parrot'.

Justice Kant said although the procedure for the Kejriwal's arrest meets the requisite criteria for legality and compliance, his continued incarceration would infringe upon established legal principles and his right to liberty. Rejecting the CBI's contention of influencing the outcome of the trial, he said all evidence and material relevant to the agency's disposition is already in their possession, negating the likelihood of tampering by the CM.

Setting aside the Delhi HC's August 5 verdict, the SC said, "The appellant shall not make any public comments on the merits of the CBI case, it being sub judice... This condition is necessitated to dissuade a recent tendency of building a self-serving narrative on public platforms."

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal addresses supporters outside Tihar Jail after getting bail | PARVEEN NEGI

Slamming the CBI for its belated arrest, Justice Bhuyan said, "Like Caesar's wife, an investigating agency must be above board. Not long ago, this court has castigated the CBI comparing it to a caged parrot. It is imperative that CBI dispels the notion of it being a caged parrot. Rather, the perception should be that of an uncaged parrot."

Emphasising that personal liberty is sacrosanct, Justice Bhyuan said, "I am of the unhesitant view that the belated arrest of the appellant by the CBI is unjustified and the continued incarceration of the appellant in the CBI case that followed such arrest has become untenable."

Sebi sees no NSE co-location scam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mumbai

IN a dramatic volte-face, the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Friday threw out its own case against the NSE and its past management led by then CEO Chitra Ramakrishna and vice-chairman Ravi Narain in the co-location case, citing lack of evidence.

This paves the way for India's largest bourse to resume its public listing plan, which has been stalled since 2016 due to the co-location controversy.

The case relates to the alleged preferential access given to certain broking firms, including OPG Securities, at the NSE to connect across the co-location facilities.

According to Sebi, there may have been lapses at the NSE's colocation facility but not enough evidence to establish collusion between the NSE and OPG Securities. "It is held that due to the absence of sufficient material/evidence/objective facts on record in this case, the test of 'preponderance of probability' fails to produce enough justification for the establishment of collusion/connivance between OPG and its directors with Noticees," Kamlesh Varshney, whole-time member, Sebi said in an 83-page order.

Varshney added: "There is no dispute that the NSE did not have a defined policy for the use of colo (co-location) facility. It even failed to monitor the use of the secondary server by TMs (brokers) without having sufficient reason."

Apart from Ramkrishna and Narain, Sebi has also dropped charges against Anand Subramanian, Ravindra Apte, Umesh Jain, Mahesh Soparkar, and Deviprasad Singh.

PREFERENTIAL ACCESS

The co-location case pertains to the alleged preferential access given to some broking firms in the form of 'dark fibre' at the NSE to connect across the co-location facilities faster than others, giving the former unfair advantage

CHITRA RAMAKRISHNA

Chitra Ramkrishna was ousted from NSE in 2016 for her role in the co-location case. In 2022, Sebi charged her with using a 'Himalayan yogi' to advise her on important decisions

Earlier this year, Sebi had rejected a settlement plea by the NSE in the co-location case.

The co-location scam refers to some brokers gaining an unfair advantage by accessing the NSE's systems, data, and trading facilities by allowing them to place their servers right in the NSE premises. The case came out in 2015 after three whistleblowers alerted Sebi.

In 2019, Sebi passed an order directing the NSE to disgorge ₹625 crore plus interest, and also imposed a penalty of ₹1,000 crore on the exchange for not ensuring equitable access to the facility to all trading members. The Sebi order was later set aside by the Securities Appellate Tribunal, following which the regulator moved the Supreme Court.

In 2023, the SC directed Sebi to refund ₹300 crore to NSE from ₹1,107 crore the exchange had deposited with it.

Doctors seek Murmu's intervention

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

WITH the stalemate between the protesting junior doctors and the Bengal government continuing for the third consecutive day, the agitators on Friday wrote to President Droupadi Murmu, urging her intervention to render justice to the rape-murder of a trainee doctor at the RG Kar hospital here on August 9.

In their letter, they mentioned the security lapses inside the hospital and how they feel insecure in the premises. They sought an appointment with her to discuss the matter.

The junior doctors reiterated the need to speak to CM Mamata Banerjee to end the deadlock, but refused to yield on the demand for live streaming of the talks for transparency.

Meanwhile, a Sealdah court rejected the CBI's request to subject the lone accused the rape-murder case, Sanjay Roy, to narco analysis test as he refused to give his consent. The agency wanted to use the narco test to verify Roy's statements. "The test would have helped determine if Roy is telling the truth," an officer said.

Roy had initially agreed to take the test but later changed his mind, CBI sources claimed. The Sealdah court judge spoke to Roy to find out whether he had any objection to what is also called a truth serum test.

In a related development, the ED received documents related to a medical scam from the sister-in-law of Dr Sandip Ghosh, former principal of RG Kar.

PG owners get a breather, BBMP set to revise rules

Palike also agrees to renew and issue new licences to run facilities in residential areas

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

OWNERS of paying guest (PG) facilities in Bengaluru may get some relief as Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has decided to revise its proposed guidelines and extend the deadline for compliance. A delegation of PG owners met special commissioner for health Suralkor Vikas Kishore recently and appealed to him to revise some of the guidelines, including the living space for inmates.

The owners stated that they should be allowed to have 35 sqft room for an inmate like in state government-run hostels instead of the proposed 70 sqft. They asked the BBMP to adhere to the police department's guideline to store CCTV footage for one month instead of the proposed 90 days."It appears that their concerns are valid and I will forward the same to the chief commissioner," Kishore said.

The BBMP had issued a set of guidelines to be followed by owners of PG centres by September 15. It had stated that their buildings will be sealed if the guidelines are not followed by then. The guidelines such as 70 sqft space per person and storage of CCTV footage for 90 days were opposed by the PG owners' welfare association.

Officials from the BBMP said with the guidelines likely to be revised, the deadline for compliance will be extended. Association president Arun Kumar said members from the association visited the wards of Victoria Hospital and also the rooms of some government-run hostels and shared their observations with the special commissioner.

"There are 20 beds and two bathrooms in a few wards of Victoria Hospital, which is in the BBMP limits. There are many BBMP hostels with similar facilities. The minimum space provided per person there is 20ftX14ft. We gave a representation to the special commissioner urging him to relax some of the guidelines and extend the deadline to follow them. The palike officials have agreed to our requests," Kumar said.He said the proposed guidelines will impact poor students from rural areas who find it difficult to pay even Rs 5,000 as rent. The owners will be forced to increase the rent if the proposed guidelines are introduced, he said.

The palike officials have also agreed to renew and issue new licences to run PG facilities in residential areas, he added.

BWSSB starts supplying blended TG Halli-Cauvery water

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TO meet the drinking water needs of residents, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) has started supplying "blended water" to several areas of the city.

The board has been supplying 10 million litres of water daily from TG Halli reservoir blended with Cauvery water in the ratio of 1:20 to parts of south and west Bengaluru.

This is done due to the hard water quality in the reservoir.

BWSSB officials said this is the first time that blended water is being supplied. "The same will be done when water from Yettinahole reaches Bengaluru. We had invited a team of IISc researchers who conducted an audit of the water quality and suggested blending the water," a senior BWSSB official said.

The water quality is hard as it has been stagnant for a very long time in the reservoir. The machines and pipelines, too, have not been in use for a long time. Now, even though the machines used to pump, treat and recycle water have been replaced and old underground pipelines have been changed, the hardness in water stayed even after treatment. "As the flow of water continues and supply increases, the hardness will reduce and fresh water flow will increase. Over time, the blending will also come down. Bengalureans are used to the taste of treated Cauvery water so they are not able to distinguish between the taste of TG Halli reservoir water and Cauvery water now," the official added.

The BWSSB has been supplying treated and blended water at no additional cost. At present, 1,450 MLD Cauvery water and 10 MLD of TG Halli reservoir water is supplied to Bengaluru. The present storage in the reservoir is 62 tmcft against the full capacity of 74 tmcft.

The government had stopped supply from TG Halli reservoir in 2012 after Cauvery Stage-4 was fully commissioned. However, with increasing water demand in the growing city, the government is working to restart supply from the reservoir which was inaugurated in 1933. It was built under the supervision of Sir M Visvesvaraya.

BWSSB Chairman Ram Prasath Manohar V said TG Halli has good water quality. It is certified by the IISc also. All efforts are being made to ensure that the plant is in running condition and the water is fully utilised.

Processions must be conducted peacefully, without the use of DJs, or provocative images. There should be no raising of slogans near places of worship like temples and churches. After the procession, no more than two people are allowed on a two-wheeler. Loudspeakers should be used between 6 am and 10 am with police permission. ENS

SUMMATIVE EXAM TIMETABLE OUT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Examination and Assessment Board (KSEAB) has announced the timetable for Summative Assessment-1 (SA-1) for Class 10 students. This is the first time the board will conduct midterm examinations after the changes in rules by the Congress government in 2023.

The examinations will be held from September 24 to October 1. Before that, tests will be conducted at schools. The question papers will be prepared by individual schools.

The language examinations will be conducted on the first three days followed by core subjects between September 27 and 30. The examinations for junior technical school subjects will take place on October 1.

Meanwhile, the Karnataka Private School College Parent Associations' coordination committee has written to the KSEAB chairman requesting uniformity in fees being collected at the district level for the summative examination-1 (SA-1) for first and second PU students.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Yogananda BN, president of the association, said in every district, a different fee is being collected from students for question papers and answer sheets.

"In Bengaluru, the DDPIs (Deputy Directors of Public Instruction) are charging Rs 32, in Koppal Rs 25, in Kalaburagi Rs 30 and so on. We request the board to standardise the fee as it is leading to confusion."

For SSLC, students have to carry their own answer sheets while the question papers will be provided by the DDPU. However, first and second PUC students have to pay fees for both.

Apologise for what happened to Fr Stan: Ex-SC judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE three pillars of the Constitution -- legislature, executive and judiciary – have lost their credibility, and their core ideas have been shaken, said former Supreme Court judge Kurian Joseph on Friday.

In the fourth pillar -- the media -- truth and facts are missing, he said at the Volken-Stan Swamy Memorial Lecture 2024 on the topic 'Role of civil society in nation building'.

During his address, he also apologised for the failure of democratic institutions in providing justice to late Fr Stan Swamy. "On behalf of the entire judiciary, I would like to tender an apology for what happened to Fr Stan. He was denied basic human rights, let alone fundamental rights, which are assured by the Constitution." He added that this was a failure on the part of courts, civil societies and the media to project what was right and truthful.

He said the way forward and out of this "moral crisis" is a need for a strong movement which can be undertaken by the "fifth pillar of society – the civil groups." "The lawmen are not able to perceive and assimilate the values of the Constitution and their silence is damaging democracy. There is a need to respect, protect and promote everyone's rights," he said. Joseph emphasised dropping the position of neutrality that indirectly promotes injustice.

Salil Shetty, former secretary general of Amnesty International and a human rights activist, spoke on how India has remained a democracy only for a few people. "We are the 12th most unequal country in the world. Ever since the current regime has been in power, they have created a chilling effect of silencing people." He added that India is slipping on every democratic index, and to counter this, the Union government is planning to introduce its own metrics.

Rlys raises awareness on parking tariff, overstay charges at SMVT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru:

TEETHING problems have been dogging the access-controlled system ever since it was introduced at Sir M Visvesvaraya Terminal (SMVT) in Baiyappanahalli on August 19. This being a new concept, there are frequent arguments between visitors and the contractor's staff.

To counter it, the commercial department of Bangalore Division plans to launch a mass campaign, including bulk SMSes, to create awareness among the public about the new rule, which aims to decongest the station.

A top official conceded that there were problems. "Since it's the first time it is being implemented at a railway station in Bengaluru, these issues will crop up. It was done successfully at Hazrat Nizamuddin and Baroda where it was launched," he said.

To facilitate acceptance, a mega awareness campaign has begun. "We are working with our unit, the Centre for Railway Information System, to facilitate sending SMSes to the public. We have already placed advertisements in newspapers and plan to go for more such advertisements. The Railways will also flash messages on information boards at the station premises in a couple of days," he added.

Balaji Foods & Beverages has been contracted with the job. As per the tariff fixed by it, vehicles which come to drop passengers can remain inside the station premises free of charge for up to 10 minutes. Beyond that, an overstay tariff of Rs 40 is imposed on two-wheelers and Rs 50 on three/four-wheelers, up to 20 minutes. The tariff is Rs 100 for two-wheelers and Rs 200 for three/four-wheelers up to 30 minutes. Beyond half-an-hour of stay, it would be flat Rs 250 for two-wheelers and Rs 500 for three/four-wheelers.

Vehicles parked inside without payment would be treated as 'unclaimed vehicles', says the display board at SMVT station.

Stop sewage flow into K-100: BBMP to BWSSB

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's Rs 175-crore K-100 Citizen Waterway Project from Majestic to Koramangala's Challaghatta Valley is almost complete. The palike now wants the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) to take measures to contain the flow of sewage into the waterway project. Officials from BBMP's stormwater drain department said 120 Million Litres per Day (MLD) of sewage was being let in when work on the project was launched two years ago. Now, the sewage flow has reduced to 5 MLD. A 5 MLD treatment plant has been constructed near Kumbaragundi to treat sewage and release the treated water into the waterway project. ENS

DULT gets nearly 30k petitions for bus lanes

DEMANDING the setting up of bus priority lanes for BMTC, Greenpeace India, along with women garment workers, submitted 28,995 petitions to the Directorate of Urban Land Transport (DULT). The petitions were collected in a model of a BMTC bus on Friday. A delegation said they raised demands for the execution of 11 bus priority lanes in the city as proposed in the comprehensive mobility plan (CMP) as well as the reinstatement of the bus lane on Outer Ring Road. The setting up of a dedicated bus lane on the ORR in 2020 increased the daily ridership by 3,727 in a month, as stated by the BMTC. Lack of dedicated bus lanes affects the mobility of marginalised communities, largely women and those dependent on public buses for their daily commute, according to a press release from Greenpeace India. ENS

14TH September: The Sun says one thing, the Moon another, but all for the best. Optimism is today's virtue, but belief in a better future relies on careful planning and attention to detail. Suddenly, all those neglected practical skills seem to be important if we are all to work together.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
As time passes, new contacts and associations will be reassuring you that home and family affairs are on the right path. Hopefully a recent dispute with a relative should now be resolved, or at least within sight of resolution. One last push should do it.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You have now entered an exciting phase at home, but it's one which could also be described as demanding and challen-ging. However, it is not clear yet whether the focus will be on personal relation-ships or repairs and decoration. Trouble is, you just can't decide!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
As a new astrological cycle begins, why not hold back and let the dust settle before pressing ahead with financial enterprises. It may be that recent personnel changes have resulted in a changed situation, one which may be more to your liking.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Your planets are hitting a vigorous note. This has been a strange period for many Cancerians. Some of you have come through unscathed but others are now in need of all the love and affection you can get in order to restore your battered morale.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Let me temper your confidence and enthusiasm with a long-term conside-ration: in about three weeks you will enter a period of domestic or family change. Therefore, why don't you use your present position to lay foundations for the future? Use your grey matter - and think ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Be positive. And if you can't be positive at least don't be gloomy! It is fortunate that irrational fears will no longer hold you back, but there is no reason why you should allow them to succeed. You have far too much to gain from pressing forward to be put off, now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Happily, continuing positive patterns coming from the Sun, Venus, Mercury and Saturn should deal with your lingering insecurities and give you the nerve to deal with people whose actions have, perhaps unwittingly, undermined your self-confidence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Mars, your tough planetary ruler, is now doing its very best. For the first time it may be possible to gauge and predict the future progress of your ambitions, at least over the next three weeks. I'd say it's about another seven weeks before you're completely in the clear, though.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Energetic Mars is reinforcing your adventurous instincts and this is indeed a suitable time for a holiday, other commitments permitting! Intriguing travel influences continue for many weeks, so take your time. And, if you are held back by work and family commitments, try to make them as enjoyable as you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You'll be in fighting form and the battle over the latest financial or business matters may have only just begun. Yet please do not set up aunt-sallies where no problem existed, or fight imaginary and time-consuming battles. In other words, please stick to the facts!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Now that passionate Mars' deepening relationship to your sign is taking hold, you are beginning to see that this is a time of excitement and energy. Many astrologers say that periods such as this are the most creative and fulfilling. It's certainly potentially prosperous.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
If we look ahead a little way, we can get a better fix on where you're at now. And, since the Sun is approaching a series of beneficial conjunctions, a great period of domestic improvement is soon to begin. First, though, you must ask yourself whether you are now in a position to make the most of your opportunities.

Karnataka to use AI to enhance safety of women in healthcare

Measures include colour-coded IDs, personal security alarms, SOS remotes, others

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is set to enhance safety measures for women healthcare personnel through a new security system incorporating AI technology to provide comprehensive protection across medical campuses. The move followed a high-level meeting chaired by Dr Sharan Prakash Patil, Minister for Medical Education and Skill Development, on Friday. The meeting focused on strengthening security protocols across medical colleges, hospitals, and hostels.

Emphasising the integration of feedback from women healthcare professionals and other stakeholders into security measures, Dr Patil proposed the formation of security audit committees in medical institutions, which will hold monthly meetings to review safety protocols and ensure thorough background checks for security personnel. He also suggested the availability of 24/7 canteen facilities to prevent women staff from leaving the premises during late hours.

Dr Patil underscored the importance of adhering to existing guidelines from the Central Government and the Supreme Court. The proposed safety measures include colour-coded ID badges, personal security alarms, SOS remotes, hooters, safe transportation options, counselling services, and training in self-defence and crisis response.

Plans were also discussed to establish a central control room staffed by ex-army personnel to monitor CCTV surveillance and personal security alarm systems round the clock. The control room will operate a 24/7 helpline and oversee the installation of additional CCTV cameras, improved street lighting, and separate duty rooms and restrooms for male and female staff.

Dr Patil also announced the formation of a panel at the State Secretariat to oversee the implementation of these measures. He also warned that directors of medical institutions would be held accountable for any security lapses and directed the medical education department to initiate new tenders for drug procurement.

Store owner throws burning cylinder out, burns 6 vehicles

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FIVE two-wheelers and an autorickshaw were gutted on Ejipura Main Road after a kebab store owner threw a burning LPG cylinder out of his shop, triggering the blaze in Vivek Nagar police station limits on Thursday night.

Around 9.30 pm at the kebab food store on Ejipura Main Road, the owner was trying to replace an empty gas cylinder with a refilled one when the fire started. He had forgotten to switch off the stove and when he disconnected the regulator, the cylinder caught fire.

Trying to save himself and his shop, he threw the flaming cylinder onto the road. The autorickshaw caught fire first and soon the blaze spread to five two-wheelers parked nearby. Passersby alerted the fire and emergency services and a fire tender attached to Mayo Hall station rushed to the spot and extinguished the fire. Staff from nearby stores and passersby too tried to put out the fire.

The Vivek Nagar police registered a case against the shop owner under Section 287 (Negligent conduct with respect to fire or combustible matter) of the BNS.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A BBMP contractor, Cheluvaraju, has accused Rajarajeshwari Nagar BJP MLA Munirathna of abusing him and demanding money from him. Cheluvaraju filed a complaint with Police Commissioner B Dayananda on Friday.

An audio, purported to be that of the MLA demanding money, has

To continue his contract, Cheluvaraju said he had to pay a previously decided amount to the MLA's aide, Santhosh. The undated audio is said to have been recorded by the contractor when he had gone to meet the MLA. The victim himself submitted the audio clip to the city police chief.

Cheluvaraju told reporters in the commissioner's office that Santhosh had urged him to heed the MLA's demands or face Renukaswamy's fate; he was referring to the murder victim in actor Darshan's case, who was killed in a shed in Rajarajeshwari Nagar.

Cong orchestrated Nagamangala violence for political gains: HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

UNION Minister for Steel and JDS state president HD Kumaraswamy on Friday alleged that the ruling Congress is behind violence in Nagamangala in Mandya district with an eye on the upcoming Assembly by-election in Channapatna.

He lambasted the State Government, saying the failure of the police department led to communal violence during the Ganesha idol immersion procession.

He alleged that Congress sponsored the latest violence, like it did in the 1990s in Ramanagara and Channapatna to force then chief minister Veerendra Patil to resign.

After visiting the riot-hit town, he said it is similar to violence in DJ Halli in Bengaluru, where massive destruction was caused within minutes and shops were torched.

Holding up the FIR copy, he said there were too many flaws in the police document and blamed the police for inefficiency. He alleged that the inspector and DySP were not at the spot when violence broke out. "Where were these officers? Why were the reserve police moved to some other area," he asked.

He wondered how miscreants got hold of stones, iron rods and petrol bombs within ten minutes, and suspected a larger conspiracy behind the incident.

Kumarswamy said Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara played down the incident, maintaining that it was a minor scuffle, while violence raged in the town.

While the police gave permission for the procession, they failed to protect those taking part in the event, he added. The police were unaware of the trouble, even as media persons were reporting from the spot, he said.

He said people from both religions in the town have lived harmoniously and Congressmen should not vitiate the atmosphere for political gains. "I demand a high-level probe to reveal the lapses committed by the police and dig out the hidden agenda behind the violence," he said.

Terming the suspension of Police Inspector Ashok Kumar a mere eyewash, he criticised the police for allowing youth in the procession to dance in front of the town mosque for over 10 minutes.

Kumaraswamy handed over relief material to the affected people and urged the government to assess the loss and pay at least 70 per cent of the actual loss as many have lost their livelihoods.

What is the reason for the incident should be probed. Whose failure is it? Doesn't the government have responsibility...what was the police doing? ... Now that they (Congress) have to face Channapatna bypoll, they have started appeasement... — HD Kumaraswamy, Union Minister

BJP 5-MEMBER FACT-FINDING PANEL TO VISIT RIOT-HIT TOWN

The Karnataka BJP has constituted a fact-finding committee of five members on the Nagamangala communal clash. The panel is likely to submit a report within a week's time. State BJP chief BY Vijayendra has constituted a five-member committee comprising Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, Byrathi Basavaraj, KC Narayana Gowda, state secretary Lakshmi Ashwini Gowda and former IPS officer Bhaskar Rao. The team will visit the spot and submit a comprehensive report within a week," Vijayendra said. Meanwhile, BJP MLC and leader N Ravikumar demanded that Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot intervene in this case, alleging that the government is trying to curtail the majority community. "We have already constituted a committee. Our leaders Vijayendra and Leader of Opposition R Ashoka visited the spot on Thursday. There has been injustice to Hindus," he said. Ravikumar also questioned how petrol bombs and stones came inside a place of worship, and alleged that "the state government has made only one community as accused, whereas stones were thrown by the other community. The state government is shameless".

SLAP GOONDA ACT ON BJP LEADERS, SAYS KPCC SPOKESPERSON

MYSURU: Alleging that BJP leaders R Ashoka, BY Vijayendra, CT Ravi, and Dr CN Ashwath Narayan tried to incite communal violence in Nagamangala town in Mandya district, KPCC spokesperson M Lakshmana has said that they should be booked under the Goonda Act. Lakshmana said that the tension during the Ganesha procession in Nagamangala on Wednesday evening was a pre-planned act committed by the BJP, RSS, and JDS. "The BJP, RSS, and JDS had planned for communal violence in Mysuru, but the police managed to avert it. So, they executed their plan in Nagamangala. The police have lodged an FIR against 53 persons under various sections of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, of which 23 are Hindus and 30 are Muslims. It was a pre-planned act effectively and meticulously done by the BJP and RSS. BJP and RSS are doing politics in the name of religion," Lakshmana said, adding that the BJP leaders who visited the town on Thursday made provocative statements. He claimed that the one communal violence incident was reported every 12 days during the four-year BJP rule in Karnataka. "According to the Home Department, during the tenures of Basavaraj Bommai and BS Yediyurappa from 2019 to 2023, there were 752 communal violence incidents in the state. Karnataka stood second in the country in the number of communal violence incidents. Now, the BJP is creating communal unrest in Nagamangala to disturb peace in Mandya district," he added. JDS leader and Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy is acting like a puppet in the hands of BJP and RSS, he said. "The BJP, which failed to do politics in the name of Lord Rama, is now using Lord Ganesha for its political agenda and dividing people in the name of religion. They tried to do politics in the name of Uri Gowda and Nanje Gowda too, but failed in Mandya. BJP and RSS have brought more than 350 people from coastal districts to create disturbance in Mandya," Lakshmana added.

BJP twisted my statements: Parameshwara

"AS negligence was found on part of the inspector, he has been suspended," Dr Parameshwara said.

The government will take stern action against the perpetrators of violence after getting the inquiry report, he said. On compensation to those who lost their property in the violence, Dr Parameshwara said there are certain rules and regulations for it. The government will look into it after getting the inquiry report.

Dr Parameshwara said the government will not spare those disturbing peace and harmony in society, especially during festivals or special occasions.

He said the police department has been directed to take measures to help restore peace in Nagamangala.

Slamming BJP leaders, he said the government will not appease any community. "We will take action as per law. BJP leaders have twisted my statements on Nagamangala violence," he added.

"The probe into Nagamangala violence is on. It will cover the deputy superintendent of police also. We will initiate action based on the report," he said.

Criticising the BJP for making allegations against the government, Dr Parameshwara said, "Will any government instigate miscreants to indulge in violence? They twisted my statements. We will not allow people to take law into their hands. There is no need for us to appease any community. What can we do, if they (BJP) twist our statements?"

Milk price to go up again, hints Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday hinted at hiking the prices of Nandini milk once again. He suggested to Cooperative Minister KN Rajanna to convene a meeting of KMF directors to decide on the matter. Just in June this year, the Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) increased milk prices by Rs 2, offering an extra 50 ml of milk per 500 ml sachet.

The CM, after inaugurating the new office of the Bengaluru Milk Union, said farmers dependent on dairy farming are not benefiting. "The cooperative department has requested us to increase the price of milk by Rs 5," the CM said. In the interest of farmers, a meeting will be convened with all stakeholders, and the price will be increased. The hike will benefit farmers directly, he added.

But he started off saying the milk procurement price — the amount paid to dairy farmers by milk unions — will be increased, without specifying whether consumers will be made to bear the burden of this hike. He said, "Also, there has been a practice from the past where farmers have to pay 20 paise per litre of milk to cooperative societies. We will decide on that too soon. We are always pro-farmers, there is no compromise in this."

He said that when the government recently hiked milk prices, BJP created a hue and cry, saying it would burden people. "Then you (milk producers), the beneficiaries of the price hike, remained silent. Shouldn't you have shut the mouths of BJP leaders for opposing a hike that will benefit the farmers," he asked the audience.

The CM claimed that his government increased the incentive for farmers when the production of milk increased, and the Ksheera Bhagya scheme was implemented to distribute surplus milk to children at government schools. "But those who did nothing for farmers, claim to be the sons of the soil," he said, indirectly attacking JDS patriarch and former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda and Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy.

On ST Corpn

CM Siddaramaiah claimed that Rs 56 crore has been recovered in the alleged ST Corporation scam. According to ED, Rs 89.62 crore was misappropriated. The CM said that the same amount will be allocated again to the ST Corporation to take up welfare schemes.

Siddaramaiah visits Magadi, makes pro-Vokkaliga overtures

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru:

AFTER going on Bengaluru rounds on Thursday, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday headed out to Vokkaliga heartland Magadi with his cabinet colleagues to inaugurate completed works and lay the foundation stone for developmental projects worth Rs 120 crore.

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy, Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna, Housing Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan and Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa accompanied the CM. They had been part of his Bengaluru tour too.

The timing of the events and absence of DCM DK Shivakumar, who is on a trip to the US, have raised eyebrows. Siddaramaiah tried to drive home the point that he was not averse to Vokkaligas, and claimed that the Congress government had given official recognition to Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Jayanti.

He hailed Magadi MLA HC Balakrishna, a Vokkaliga leader, who he said deserves to be minister. "But only 34 MLAs, including the CM, could be inducted into the cabinet. Balakrishna has been proving himself as the best MLA in getting development works implemented. I never said no to any of his proposals," he stated.

"Magadi is a very important town and should be developed. It was the capital of Kempegowda. When I was CM in 2016-17, Kempegowda Jayanti was declared a holiday by the government, not by those who claimed to be leaders of Vokkaligas," he said.

Siddaramaiah claimed that his government took up pro-farmer initiatives, including hiking the incentive for milk producers. He took a dig at the opposition BJP, alleging that the saffron party has been spreading false information that there is no money for development after implementing the guarantees. "How come the government earmarked Rs 120 crore for works in Magadi?" he questioned.

He attacked PM Narendra Modi, saying India's debt had crossed Rs 182 lakh crore in 10 years after he became PM, compared to Rs 53.11 lakh crore in 2014. He said Modi was pro-capitalist as the Central government had waived loans of Rs 16 lakh crore given to industrialists.

Have faith in law and courts: CM

A day after the Karnataka High Court completed hearing and reserved its verdict on his petition challenging the Governor's sanction for investigation in the MUDA site allotment case, CM Siddaramaiah on Friday said he is confident of getting justice as he has done no wrong. "I have faith in the law and the courts of this land. I did no wrong and won't do in future too. My political life of 40 years is like an open book. I am in power for the poor," the Chief Minister added.

Dr G conducts marathon meet to dig up past 'scams'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said on Friday that the five-member panel headed by him will take the scams that took place during the previous governments to their logical end without fail. The panel set up by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to expedite investigating into the past "scams" headed by Dr Parameshwara also includes ministers Krishna Byre Gowda, Santhosh Lad, Priyank Kharge, and HK Patil.

The committee held a three-hour marathon meeting at Vidhana Soudha on Friday in which several top officials were present. However, HK Patil was absent. After the meeting ended, the ministers met separately. "We will not touch the cases in which the investigations are complete, but will look into only those cases in which the probe is ongoing... we will also look into the new scams. Today we discussed 3-4 cases," Dr Parameshwara said.

He said that the team will review the "scams" department-wise. "In two months, we are expected to complete the task and submit our report to the cabinet to take a call," the home minister told the media after the meeting. He further added that all the "irregularities" that happened during the BJP rule and the Congress-JDS coalition government will be probed. He said that the scams in different departments, including the police, and their progress have been discussed, but since it was the first meeting, the panel had not arrived at any conclusion.

On BJP's allegation that the Congress was indulging in politics of vengeance by digging up old cases, Dr Parameshwara hit back, asking whether the old scams should not be investigated and the truth be put forth before the people.

On Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy and the BJP trolling him as he did not deserve to be the home minister, Dr Parameshwara hit back, saying, "I am a home minister for the third time, and the people of the state and the officers know my ability. I have delivered the goods honestly in any portfolio."

Dr Parameshwara also held a meeting of the panel to select Congress workers as vice-presidents and directors to various boards and corporations. In a month or two, over 1,000 vacancies will be filled, said informed sources.

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, reacting to the transfers, said they have nothing to do with the Nagamangala incident. "The decision to change the Intelligence ADGP was taken by the chief minister. The government on Friday issued orders transferring the two IPS officers. Nimbalkar shall also hold the concurrent charge of the post of ADGP, Commissioner, Department of Information and Public Relations, Bengaluru.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

CHIEF Minister A Revanth Reddy informed the Central team, which visited the flood affected areas for two days, that the total loss that the state suffered due to rains and floods was Rs 10,320.72 crore.

At a meeting with the Central team at Secretariat on Friday, the Chief Minister once again appealed to the Centre to provide immediate relief to the state to bail out people, who suffered losses. He also reiterated his earlier demand that the Centre should relax the existing norms and release disaster response funds to the state without putting any conditions.

"With the existing guidelines, the state cannot utilise the available Rs 1,350 crore National Disaster Response Funds, even if the entire state submerged under floodwaters. As per the present rules, the state is eligible to use only Rs one lakh if a one km road is damaged in floods. With this amount, the government cannot even take up temporary repairs to the damaged road," the Chief Minister explained. Revanth Reddy said that apart from submitting the details of losses, the State government would also furnish the standard schedule of rates (SSR) details to the Central government, so that the Centre could examine the SSR, revise them and extend liberal relief to the state, Revanth Reddy said.

The Chief Minister said that constructing a retaining wall was the only solution to prevent the submergence under Munneru in Khammam.

The Chief Minister requested the Centre to give advance alerts on natural calamities, so that the State government could take preventive measures and avoid losses. The Chief Minister also informed that he was planning to utilise the services of police battalions in various district during natural calamities.

HC questions legal validity of HYDRAA

T G NAIDU @Hyderabad

JUSTICE K Lakshman of the Telangana High Court has expressed serious concerns over the legal validity of Hyderabad Disaster Relief and Assets Protection Agency (HYDRAA) and the manner in which it operates. HC also expressed dismay over HYDRAA for its selective approach towards demolitions.

The Court was adjudicating a writ petition filed by D. Lakshmi, a resident of Nanakramguda, Hyderabad, who has alleged that HYDRAA, a newly established body, unlawfully demolished structures on her property in Sangareddy district without prior notice or legal orders.

In the hearing, Justice Lakshman directed the Telangana government and its counsel to submit all relevant details concerning the establishment of HYDRAA, its duties, and its legal standing. The matter has been adjourned to September 19, 2024.

The case is set to be revisited, when the government is expected to furnish a more detailed explanation regarding HYDRAA's legal framework and operational procedures.

Raghavulu leads the race to succeed Yechury

ANIL S @T'Puram

THE demise of Sitaram Yechury has triggered speculations on the next CPM general secretary. According to sources, the party will go for a stop-gap arrangement by nominating a senior leader as the general secretary in-charge till the 24th Party Congress scheduled for next April in Madurai.

Yechury's third term was to end in April. Sources said former general secretary Prakash Karat could be asked to handle the party affairs for the time being. A section feels that Brinda Karat, too, could be given interim charge as she's a prominent woman face in national politics.

If the party decides to go for a new face as a full-time general secretary, then M A Baby or B V Raghavulu (pic) could be chosen.

The CPM politburo, set to meet after Yechury's public homage on Saturday, will take a call in this regard and will present its recommendation before the central committee on September 27.

"Since the Party Congress is around the corner, a senior leader will be given temporary charge. The party set the age criteria to infuse new blood into the PB and CC," said a senior leader.

Going by the existing age cap of 75 years, PB members Prakash, Brinda, Manik Sarkar, Surjya Kanta Mishra, and Subhashini Ali are likely to give way for new faces at the Party Congress, which can give exemption to a leader if need be.

"It would be wise to go with Brinda, as it would send out a message... The party needs a leader acceptable to other Opposition parties," said a central committee member.

Other contenders

Kerala leader M A Baby and Nilotpal Basu from West Bengal are also among possible choices. Party sources said a relatively junior A Vijayaraghavan from Kerala could also emerge as a front runner

'LOVE AFFAIR' LEADS TO BOYCOTT OF DALIT FAMILIES

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@Yadgir/Kalaburagi

MEMBERS of an upper caste in Bapparga village of Hunasagi taluk in Yadgir district have allegedly boycotted Dalit families. This after the mother of a minor Dalit girl filed a POCSO complaint against a youth from the upper caste community for maintaining a physical relationship with her daughter and making her pregnant.

The complaint was filed with the Narayanpur police on August 14 and the youth was arrested. The complaint states that the youth had been in a physical relationship with the girl, promising to marry her. But he stopped contacting the girl after coming to know that she was pregnant and also sent a message to her family that he was not willing to marry her, the complaint added.

A few days ago, villagers from the upper caste community held a meeting and decided to boycott the Dalits, as the girl's family filed the complaint without consulting members of the upper caste in Bapparga. A Dalit youth from the village, Parashuram, told TNIE that the upper caste community has instructed grocery stores in the village not to sell anything to Dalits, especially the girl's family.

On Thursday, when the girl's family went to a shop to buy groceries, and another Dalit went to a stationer to buy notebooks and pens for his children, the shop owners declined to sell either groceries or stationery to Dalits, saying upper caste members have told them not to sell any necessity to Dalits in the village, Parashuram said. An audio clip of shop owners explaining to the Dalits that they would get into trouble if they violate the diktats of upper caste members has gone viral on social media sites.

When TNIE contacted Yadgir Deputy Commissioner P Sushila, she said the Hunasagi Tahsildar Basalingappa Naikode and a team of officials have been sent to the village to speak with both communities to resolve the issue.

Naikode said that he visited the village on Friday and held discussions with leaders of both communities separately. He said the issue would be resolved soon.

Yadgir district in-charge and Small Scale Industries Minister Sharanabasappa Darshanapur said he has sought a report from the district administration, and, if necessary, he will visit the village to solve the matter amicably.

Leader of opposition in the Legislative Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy issued a statement, strongly condemning the boycott. "It is inhuman that the villagers are not selling groceries or stationery to Dalits," he said, asking Darshanapur and Sushila to meet the villagers and resolve the issue. The rape victim should be given justice, and the guilty should be punished, he added.

The BJP leader said he will visit the village on Tuesday and interact with Dalits.

Man cheats over 77 women on matrimonial sites, held

ASISH MEHTA @Bhubaneswar

CYBER Crime unit of CID-CB on Friday arrested a conman identified as Biranchi Narayan Nath (43) of Chhendipada for allegedly trapping over 77 women across India on matrimonial sites on the pretext of marriage and cheating them of cash and valuables worth lakhs. So far, CB officers have stumbled upon more than 300 private photographs of women along with their WhatsApp chats with Nath from the three mobile phones seized from him.

Sources said the officers are examining the photographs to ascertain the exact number of victims cheated by Nath. "Preliminary probe suggests Nath has been committing such frauds since 2013.

Initial investigation revealed he has cheated hundreds of women in Odisha and other states like Rajasthan, West Bengal, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Haryana and national capital New Delhi. Nath, who has degrees in MA in Political Science and English and LLB, was also arrested at least thrice in the past. He tied the knot with many women in temples. He posed as a railway employee, Income Tax department inspector, an official posted in Customs and Central Excise, a neurosurgeon and others.

On matrimonial sites, Nath mostly targeted middle-aged victims whose marriage was either delayed or they were separated, divorced and widows. He used his original name as well as fake identities like Pravakar Srivastav and Manas Rath. After marrying the women, he stayed in their houses and never took any of them to his home. "Preliminary probe suggests he used to emotionally manipulate women and also offered to support their children, if they had any. In some instances, he also promised the women jobs after their marriage," said a CB officer. A case was registered in this regard on September 12 and Nath was arrested. Significant digital evidence, obscene photographs and videos of several women and his fake IDs have been recovered. They are being examined to collect more details about the other women whom were possibly cheated by him, he said.

KEEP EYE ON GLOBAL INTEREST RATE CUTS FOR MARKET MOVES

INDIAN markets are hitting new highs and defying the 'September effect', considered the worst month for global stock markets. On Thursday, while the S&P Sensex crossed 83,000 for the first time, the Nifty 50 touched a record high closer to the 25,000 level. The sharp rally driven by banking, IT and auto stocks gained strength from a host of factors including interest rate cuts in the US, China and Europe. Helpfully, fresh data first from the US and later from India confirmed that inflation was no longer persistent and was steadily falling back to the respective central banks' target zones. Besides favourable inflation data, the market soared to the mere expectations of rate cuts in China and Europe. While the buzz for a 50-basis-point cut in China will likely boost demand and goose the economy, the European Central Bank's 25-bp cut provided a much-needed sentimental boost.

While global rate cuts are a certainty, the biggest question is the quantum of cuts. According to analysts, a 50-bp cut by the US Federal Reserve next Wednesday, instead of the traditional 25-bp reduction, could unleash market mayhem. A bigger cut would confirm the worst fears of a hard landing for the world's largest economy, even though such a cut could keep recession at bay ahead of the presidential elections in November. But the very idea of a 50-bp cut is straining investors' nerves—if the Fed actually delivers, it could trigger a global market shock. As it is, lacklustre data from China is sparking concerns about the state of the overall global economy as analysts sense the world's second largest economy will end up dragging down both the US and Europe along with it.

Apart from recessionary fears, analysts are also worried about Fed rate cuts strengthening the Japanese yen, which is battling troubles of its own. When the Bank of Japan tried to intervene and course-correct its yen carry trades last month, it caused a global market crash overnight. A strong yen will be detrimental to all the US risk asset classes and how the market responds to the Fed rate cuts will be closely watched. In short, the global markets seem to have tied themselves up in knots. Hence, investors must tread with extreme caution.

DON'T SACRIFICE AIRPORT GROWTH FOR LOBBIES

WE are advised not to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. But those managing the Kochi airport seem to be doing exactly that. Cochin International Airport, the public-private company that operates the airport, reported a profit of ₹412.58 crore in 2023-24, a 54 percent growth over 2022-23. The 25-year-old airport has been consistently posting profit, primarily owing to its low initial investment and cost of operation, and a lack of competition. Besides, it started collecting user development fees (UDF) from flyers in 2022-23, which led to a huge profit jump. In 2023-24, it collected ₹189.78 crore as UDF, roughly 46 percent of the year's profit.

The UDF is a revenue-enhancing measure to bridge shortfalls and ensure fair returns for airports. While the collection of UDF itself is questionable, considering there was no revenue shortfall, the airport sought and secured clearance for it citing capital expenditure. Yet, no expansion seems to be happening and the change in infrastructure and facilities is cosmetic at best. According to some insiders, the company is catering to its billionaire clientele—some of them its shareholders and part of the board that takes decisions—with the money collected from common flyers and doling out a bulk of its profits as dividend to shareholders, sacrificing its growth potential. Last year, the company gave out a dividend of 35 percent and there is a proposal to increase it this year.

The airport's expansion plans are in limbo and there has been little movement on the proposal to build a second runway, which could lend the airport a sharper competitive edge. It is sitting on a huge growth potential, primarily because of its proximity to many international destinations and the serious drawbacks the other airports in Kerala suffer from. If developed adequately, the Kochi airport could transform itself into a major international transit hub and a bigger player in the cargo business. At a time when Indian aviation is anticipating a big growth, Kochi should be betting on its potential. The state government, its biggest stakeholder, should step in and take charge so that vested interests are kept away. The people who run the airport must realise that in a competitive world, progress is life and stagnation is death.

UP ABOVE THE WORLD SO HIGH

A small step for an American billionaire became a giant stride for private space exploration this week—Jared Isaacman became the first non-professional to do a spacewalk. While gliding 700 km above a half-lit planet, Isaacman said, "Back at home we all have a lot of work to do, but from here, Earth sure looks like a perfect world." It's the first part of the 41-year-old fintech entrepreneur's quote that we should take to heart. Private space flights will remain the domain of a few superrich earthlings for long. The rest of us mere mortals should look to our space agencies for the benefits they bring to science and society.

India's borrowed biomedical approach to tackle rising suicides has limited value. Methods rooted in the community, with a view on social justice and public health, could be more effective

NEED TO CHANGE OUR APPROACH TO STUDENT SUICIDES

DR AMIT SEN

Child and adolescent psychiatrist; Co-founder, Children First

A recent report on student suicides presented at the IC3 conference has set alarm bells ringing yet again. The question is for how long these bells will ring this time. Going by experience, one can anticipate they will recede into our collective unconscious after the initial media hype and academic mention in a few conferences.

That the suicide rate among the youth of India is one of the highest in the world is a fact we have known for a few years. Suicide is the number one cause of death for young Indians in the age group of 15 to 29. The National Crime Records Bureau reported that in 2020, 34 students ended their lives every day. What ought to make us take a more lasting notice is the sharp increase in student suicides over the last decade—male student suicides rose 99 percent and female suicides by 92 percent. As part of an organisation that works with thousands of young people in a clinical setting as well as with community-based organisations, I have had to confront the heartbreaking reality of witnessing more suicides in the last 2 years than we had seen in the previous 20.

Ever so often, when the background stories of people dying by suicide come to the fore, there is bewilderment about how it could have happened. As if they happen out of the blue, without any antecedents or warnings. Nothing can be farther from the truth in the large majority of cases. Usually, a suicidal attempt is a culmination of a series of jarring external and internal experiences, an act of desperation by a young person who has gone through months or years of emotional turmoil that has, in most instances, gone unnoticed and unattended. The fact that we can't pick up the early signs of the evolution of suicidal behaviours is a disturbing reflection of our lack of awareness and sensitivity towards the emotional life of young people.

The dean of a reputed institute of higher education was recently quoted as saying, "Increasing suicide rates is a major concern for us. Building tolerance, early identification of symptoms, early diagnosis, and early intervention among students are the main pillars to tackle the issue." Such a resource-heavy, expert-led biomedical approach that focuses on diagnosis and intervention has limited vision and value. Borrowed from the West, it fails to address the complex multicultural and sociopolitical influences of our diverse country.

SOURAV ROY

Despite having one of the largest spends on mental health, the rates of depression and suicide in the US have risen in the last five years. Dr Shekhar Saxena, a former director of mental health at WHO, summed it up: "When it comes to mental health, all countries are developing countries." Adopting such a broken and ineffective model is bemusing, to say the least. We require a radical shift in our understanding and approach towards mental health and suicidal behaviours if we hope to make a dent in this growing epidemic.

Suicidal behaviours are a complex set of phenomenons that are influenced by a range of biological, sociocultural, economic, relational and political issues. The lens of intersectionality with factors such as race, class, caste, religion, education, disability and social justice could add more depth to our understanding. Some recent suicides in institutions of higher learning were precipitated by caste issues that led to the othering and isolation of the students who eventually took the extreme step. Likewise, ever so often, we hear stories of young women whose lives, smothered by oppressive patriarchal structures, have come to a tragic end.

Mental illness, as is commonly believed, is not essential for suicidal tendencies to manifest. Farmer suicides are yet another example where financial crises and hopelessness surrounding it are often the main drivers. Similarly, among students, academic pressure, perceived failure in exams, breakdown in relationships and cyber bullying have been found to be major determinants of suicidal behaviours. Such experiences can contribute to the development of mental illnesses too; and while the relationship between the two is complex, it would be reductionist and narrow if we attempted to understand suicide purely from the mental health perspective.

The pandemic opened up the floodgates of mental health problems across all communities and turned the spotlight on this vastly neglected space of human suffering. While statistics of depression being the number one cause of disability in the world were doing the rounds even before Covid, there was abject apathy towards mental health conditions in India. The annual budget of the national mental health programme was a mere ₹40 crore before Covid struck, which has increased by more than three folds to ₹134 crore for 2023-24. And yet, this is no more than a drop in the ocean of mental health needs of our county, where conservative estimates project a figure of more than 200 million people needing some form of help at any given point in time.

The biomedical model to address suicide and/or mental health has been an abysmal failure in more ways than one way. It is clear by now that we have to think out of the box to make a substantial difference. Promising models that approach it differently have been emerging from various parts of the world in the last decade or more. Many of these are rooted in the community, are preventative in nature and their line of action could include social justice, public health, economic and political systems. They target the stigma experienced by the affected people, are aimed at building awareness and safe spaces for the young, are committed to giving shape to more inclusive and accepting communities, and are determined to create alternative pathways of learning in this diverse and ever-changing world around us.

For any sustainable change to occur, what is required is a much deeper engagement with all stakeholders including parents, educators, pivotal institutions, policy makers, professionals, and young people with lived experiences who have faced the brunt and survived. As adults, we have to listen to our children and students, understand their challenges and aspirations, have faith in their abilities and insights, and include them in our efforts to build a safer world for them and all of us.

OF FLUCTUATING FORTUNES & EVOLVING FOOD FIGHTS

PRATIK KANJILAL

For years, the author has been speaking easy to a surprisingly tolerant public

SPEAKEASY

INDIA has lost the crown for the sport of demonising the other by denouncing their dietary preferences as disgusting. In his only joust with Kamala Harris in the course of the US election, in the presidential debate on Wednesday, Donald Trump lowered the bar all the way on using food habits to render the other unpalatable. The new standard is eating dogs and cats, which the former US president has accused immigrants from Haiti of doing.

Trump said immigrants are dognapping and catnapping pets of the gentle people of Springfield, Ohio, for nutritional purposes. While poll analysts marvel at the ease with which Harris lured her opponent into a trap in the debate just by poking the old reprobate's ego, we Indians, who take an unhealthy interest in the food habits of others, must marvel at the audacity of Trump's kutta-billi agitprop. The gaurakshaks in the heartland must be feeling outclassed. They can only fight their wars over beef, a staple in many parts of the world, and the default source of protein for Indian communities low on the traditional totem pole.

If the people of Haiti are guilty as accused, their homeland should not have a stray dog menace. But a quick web search reveals that Haiti has one at least as serious as India's. The strays even look like our own, complete with the legendary curled tail that can't be straightened. Haiti's stray cats don't seem to have been counted. Cats are hard to count. They're shape-shifters. That is their joy and glory.

The cat-and-dog story may have cost Trump the election but usually, since most communities have food taboos, allegations about food habits can be reliably used to other people of different communities. It's worked very well in India, where food taboos and associations with class and caste are etched in primordial stone. Fact-checkers have been working for years to show that most of India is not vegetarian, but they haven't succeeded.

We are used to living in grey areas. Vegetarian families have prodigal sons who are happy to eat meat outside but would not dream of letting it pollute the kitchen. And at weddings in strictly-vegetarian families you shall find their spacious homes and grounds beautifully illuminated, except for one tree left significantly in darkness. Beneath that tree, you shall find banned proteins and fluids that lift the animal spirits. Such grey areas and class divides are so pervasive that they have even inspired modern fiction: the ever-rebellious Upamanyu Chatterjee's Revenge of the Non-vegetarian.

> The class associations of diets have constantly changed. 'Low-class' foods have swarmed up the ladder to high society. Cookbooks do their best to conceal this embarrassment. For instance, oysters were once a staple in New York, but are now restricted to fine dining

But in other parts of the world, which know nothing of the delights of the steel frame of the caste system, the class associations of diet have changed constantly. Low-class foods have swarmed up the ladder of high society. Cookbooks do their best to conceal this embarrassment. For instance, oysters were working class fare in the Roman empire and a staple in New York in its early years, but are now restricted to fine dining.

Onion soup used to be peasant food. In Saxon times, onions and shallots were the most common vegetables in Britain. Today, we regard them not as veggies but club them with garlic as providers of the high gustatory notes. But back in the day, when the Saxon materfamilias uttered the dreadful sentence that every family hates—"And now we must have our vegetables"—she usually meant onion soup.

But in modern English menus, onion soup is prefixed by the word 'French'. It's a device that dates back to the Norman Conquest, when William of Orange set the bar and the French were slavishly emulated as the fountainhead of high fashion, exactly like Milan is followed now. Romance words like 'pork' and 'beef' (boeuf) began to be used for food, replacing English terms for animals like 'pig' and 'cow'. In Ben Jonson's 17th century play Bartholomew Fair, the heroine shocks by wishing "to eat of a pig". It's so raw. Something subversive seems to have been at work: one would have expected the word 'pork' to be used.

To return to onion soup, by the time PG Wodehouse engaged with it in Uncle Fred in the Springtime, the staple of centuries had become quality fast food. His character Ricky Gilpin, an aspiring poet of the upper class, wants to raise capital to start an onion soup bar, to cater to the famished and affluent hordes emerging from theatres on London's Shaftesbury Avenue after shows every night. Then as now, it was hard to make a living in poetry. Knowing one's onions helps.

Despite such fluctuations in the fortunes of food, demonising the other as savages because they do not follow majoritarian dietary practices remains a reliable right-wing strategy. It has been used successfully for a decade in the world's most populous democracy. In August, a schoolboy was chased for 30 km and shot dead in Faridabad by cow vigilantes—in error. Days earlier, a migrant worker was beaten to death in Charkhi Dadri on the suspicion that he had eaten beef—which Indians do every day outside the well-named 'cow belt'.

And now, the consumption of dogs and cats will help US citizens make up their mind about whom they want to make the most powerful individuals on earth. May they choose wisely.

Though many of us may not agree with the Leftist policies defended by Sitaram Yetchury, he was a gentleman to the core. 'Colonial past': Port Blair is now 'Sri Vijaya Puram'

Symbolises Andaman & Nicobar Islands' role in freedom struggle: Shah

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Central government has renamed Port Blair, the capital city of the Union Territory of Andaman and Nicobar Islands, as 'Sri Vijaya Puram', Union Home Minister Amit Shah announced on Friday.

"Inspired by the vision of PM @narendramodi Ji, to free the nation from the colonial imprints, today we have decided to rename Port Blair as Sri Vijaya Puram," Shah said in a post on micro-blogging site X.

While the earlier name had a colonial legacy, Sri Vijaya Puram symbolises the victory achieved in India's freedom struggle and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands' unique role in it, the minister said.

The city was named after Captain Archibald Blair, a British colonial navy officer of the East India Company.

The Andaman and Nicobar Islands have an "unparalleled place" in the freedom struggle and history, and the island territory that once served as the naval base of the Chola Empire is now poised to be the critical base for India's strategic and development aspirations, he said.

"It is also the place that hosted the first unfurling of our Tiranga by Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose ji and also the cellular jail in which Veer Savarkar ji and other freedom fighters struggled for an independent nation," Shah said.

The archipelago comes under the direct administrative control of the Centre. It is world renowned for its pristine natural beauty, rich marine life, flora and fauna spread around 836 islands, islets and rocks.

Most of these islands (550) are in the Andaman group, 28 of which are inhabited. The smaller Nicobar group comprises some 22 main islands (10 inhabited). The Andaman and Nicobar are separated by the Ten Degree Channel, which is 150 km wide.

The archipelago has been inhabited for several thousands years. Early archaeological evidence goes back some 2,200 years. The indigenous people of Andaman first came into contact with the outside world in 1850s. The local people are the Great Andamanese, who collectively represent at least 10 distinct sub-groups and languages, the Jarawa: the jungle (or Rutland Jarawa), the Onge, and the Sentinelese (the most isolated of all the groups).

The indigenous people comprise two main groups: Nicobari living across many islands, and Shompen, restricted to the interior of Great Nicobar.

Jaishankar says concerned over RG Kar

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WOMEN'S safety is a cause for concern in India, said External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar. "I don't think there can be a single person in the country who wasn't outraged by the RG Kar (Kolkata rape-murder case involving a trainee doctor) incident. You can see that on the streets," said Jaishankar while speaking with the Indian diaspora in Geneva on Friday.

He said women's safety is an issue in the country. "I am reminded in a way of something Prime Minister Narendra Modi said from the ramparts of Red Fort: he said we say things to our daughters, but do we do that to our sons? There are so many aspects to this problem. It starts with respect and equality. What is happening angers us," said Jaishankar.

He also said that India has spearheaded women-led development and this was brought to the forefront during the G20 Summit in Delhi last year.

He also spoke about the continuous spotlight on India over human rights issues. Unlike most countries in the world, India was not a homogenised nation and had its own sets of issues, he said, emphasizing rankings and ratings "are not honest conversations but mind games played for political purpose."

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar plants a sapling under 'Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam' campaign at the Permanent Mission of India in Geneva | PTI

When it comes to human rights, India is a unique society, he said. "When you look at history of the world, with the exception of probably India, every other society has emphasised uniformity, of language, faith, nationhood, which is not the case in India," he said. "We have accepted people to continue to live in their diversity, where the conversations will be different from other societies," said Jaishankar.

India has a population of 1.4 billion and there will be mistakes, but that cannot put India on the back foot, he said. "We as Indians have every right to be proud of our democratic exercise, the integrity, scale and efficiency. The world is updating its impressions about India," he added.

When asked about IC814 hijacking, Jaishankar recounted a hijack incident in 1984 where he was at the bureaucratic level and was part of the team seeking early release of the hostages. Besides, his own father was onboard the aircraft which eventually landed in Dubai and nobody was hurt.

"Modern India is getting built brick-by-brick and step-by-step. The idea of rule of law is very central to policies of the government. This is an India that wants to engage more with the world, we need to leapfrog into development," he added.

"After six decades a government was elected for a third consecutive term. That in itself is a statement worth reflecting on," the EAM said. "When we look at the conduct of elections, the enormous scale, the very heated arguments... but finally, the acceptance of the results. The cause of social justice, the idea of inclusive growth, of rule of law is gaining ground and is today very central to the policies and activities of the government," he added.

He said he had no problem with other countries commenting on Indian politics, but they should also be prepared to hear his comments on their politics. He made the sharp remarks during his interaction with the Indian community. He was asked a question about some foreign diplomats based in New Delhi having personal meetings with certain opposition leaders in their state.

The External Affairs Minister did not answer it directly as he said, "I have no problem if people comment about our politics, but then, I think in fairness, they should also be ready to hear my comments about their politics."

Firing trials of light tank Zorawar successful

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIA'S ambitious project to manufacture indigenous light tank achieved a milestone on Friday with Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) successfully conducting preliminary automotive trials of Zorawar, said the Ministry of Defence.

"In the initial phase, the tank's firing performance was rigorously evaluated and it achieved the required accuracy on targets," said the ministry.

Describing it a highly versatile platform capable of deployment in high-altitude areas, the MoD said: "During the field trials conducted in the desert terrain, the light tank demonstrated exceptional performance, efficiently meeting all the intended objectives."

Sources said accuracy is the most significant parameter for the modern tank, which in technical terms, is also described as the FRHP (First Round Hit Probability) to suit the modern battles, requiring it to hit the enemy first.

Zorawar has been successfully developed by the Combat Vehicles Research & Development Establishment (CVRDE), a DRDO unit, in collaboration with Larsen & Toubro Ltd.

Many Indian entities, including Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs), contributed to the development of various sub-systems, showcasing the strength of indigenous defence manufacturing capabilities within the country.

DRDO conducted preliminary automotive trials of Indian light tank Zorawar | EXPRESS

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh lauded DRDO, the Indian Army, and the associated industry partners for the successful trials of the Indian light tank. He described the achievement as a significant milestone towards India's goal of self-reliance in critical defence systems and technologies.

As reported earlier by TNIE India's ambitious indigenous project 'Zorawar' to design and develop Light Weight Tanks (LWT) for sector-specific operational requirements is expected to be ready for deployment in about four years, from the start of its design phase.

The prototype of the tank underwent trials in July this year. After that, sources said, the development phase will take 18 months to two years. The production will take another year.

A total of 354 light tanks are to be produced of which the DRDO will manufacture 59. The rest will be manufactured under the Make 1 Category.

Zorawar will weigh around 25 tonnes, armed with niche technologies to include Artificial Intelligence, drone integration, active protection system and a high degree of situational awareness, he said. The Defence Acquisition Council accorded its approval for the ₹16,000 crore project for lightweight tanks in December 2022. Zorawar Singh Kahluria was the famed military general of Dogra King Gulab Singh and was adept at mountain warfare.

The Projects under the 'Make-I' category will involve government funding of up to 90 per cent under the Defence Procurement Policy (2016). With this, the aim of the government is to push the Make in India initiative. This will foster indigenous capabilities through the design and development of required defence equipment/products/systems by the both public and private sectors.

A lightweight agile platform with a high power-to-weight ratio with substantial firepower, protection, and surveillance-and-communication capabilities is essential to provide the Indian Army with the versatility to execute operations in varying terrain against diverse threats and equipment profiles of adversaries.

NEED FOR TANK AROSE AT LADAKH STANDOFF

Indian light tank is required to address sector-specific operational requirements. Zorawar will be designed to operate from high altitude area, the marginal terrain to the island territories and will be highly transportable for rapid deployment to meet any operational situation, defence source said. The need for light tanks was felt during the standoff in the Eastern Ladakh

3-day JPC meet from Sept 18 to seek inputs from stakeholders on Waqf Bill

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Joint Parliamentary Committee on the Waqf (Amendment) Bill is scheduled to meet on September 18, 19 and 20 at the Parliament House Annexe, official sources said.

On September 18, officials from the Ministry of Minority Affairs will present their oral evidence before the committee. The next day, the JPC will hear opinions or recommendations of some experts and stakeholders, including Prof Faizan Mustafa, Vice Chancellor of Chanakya National Law University, Patna; Pasamanda Muslim Mahaaz; and the All India Muslim Personal Law Board. On September 20, inputs will be sought from the All India Sajjadanashin Council, Ajmer; Muslim Rashtriya Manch, Delhi; and Bharat First, Delhi on the Bill, the sources said.

On August 8, the two bills — Waqf (Amendment) Bill, 2024 and Mussalman Wakf (Repeal) Bill, 2024 — were introduced by the government in the Lok Sabha with an objective to streamline the Waqf Board's works and ensure an efficient management of waqf properties. Since the constitution of the JPC, the fourth meeting was held on September 6 to examine the Bill. At the fourth meeting, senior officials of the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) made a presentation before the JPC. Also other stakeholders, including the Zakat Foundation of India and the Telangana Waqf Board, shared their views, suggestions, and oral evidence.

The Congress-led Opposition is firm on their protest against the Bill and have decided not to support it during upcoming Parliament session. The Bill was referred to JPC following the Opposition demand and the panel is expected to submit its report to the Lok Sabha Speaker ahead of the next session.

According to a statement issued on Friday by the Ministry of Minority Affairs, the objective of the Bill is to amend the Waqf Act, 1995 to redress the issues and challenges in regulating and managing Waqf properties.

"It (the Bill) aims to overcome the shortcomings o the previous act and enhance the efficiency of Waqf boards by introducing changes such as renaming the Act, updating the definitions of Waqf, improving the registration process , and increasing the role of technology in managing Waqf records," the ministry said.

The government said that primary objective of the Mussalman Waqf (Repeal) Act, 2024 is to repeal the Mussalman Waqf Act, 1923, a colonial-era legislation that has become outdated and inadequate for managing Waqf properties in modern India.

NIA raids locations in Punjab in case linked to Khalistani protests abroad

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA), the federal anti-terror probe body, conducted raids at several locations on Friday across Punjab's Moga, Amritsar, Gurdaspur, and Jalandhar districts as part of its ongoing investigation into the March 2023 incident in which Khalistani supporters protested outside the Indian High Commission in Ottawa, Canada, officials have confirmed.

The officials stated that raids were carried out at the residence of Lok Sabha member Amritpal Singh's family in the Baba Bakala subdivision of Punjab. Amritpal Singh, the 30-year-old Sikh separatist leader, was arrested in 2023 for reviving calls for an independent Sikh homeland in Punjab.

The first raid took place at the residence of Amritpal Singh's uncle, Pragat Singh. It was followed by a second raid at the house of Amritpal's brother-in-law, and a third at the home of another relative.

During the 23 March protest, demonstrators shouted anti-India slogans and attached Khalistani flags to the boundary wall of the High Commission. As per reports from Ottawa, a protestor also threw two grenades onto the premises.

In June 2023, the NIA registered an FIR in connection with the case. Khalistani supporters, reportedly led by Amarjot Singh, Amritpal Singh's brother-in-law, protested outside the Indian High Commission in Ottawa on 23 March 2023.

Swachh Bharat Abhiyan: 2 lakh sites chalked out for 15-day-long campaign

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Centre aims to clean and transform around two lakh sites during the fortnight-long 'Swabhav Swachhata Sanskaar Swachhata (4S) 2024' campaign, part of this year's Swachh Bharat Mission (SBM). These sites — referred to as Cleanliness Target Units (CTUs) — are being identified across states and union territories (UTs) with the help of local bodies and governments.

"These Cleanliness Target Units (CTUs) are the key highlight of this year's campaign, involving the identification of CTUs and their mapping through a dedicated portal developed for the purpose. So far, 80,000 CTUs have been registered," said Union Minister for Housing and Urban Affairs, Manohar Lal, on Friday during the campaign's curtain-raiser event in Delhi.

The campaign, which begins on September 17 — the birth anniversary of Prime Minister Narendra Modi — will culminate on Mahatma Gandhi Jayanti, October 2.

The Government is encouraging Public Sector Undertakings, NGOs, and other institutions to adopt CTUs, including tourist locations, public buildings, commercial areas, community and public toilets, water bodies, zoos and sanctuaries.

The minister further informed that under the SBM initiative, 427 dumpsites with nine crore metric tonnes (MT) of waste have been fully remediated, freeing up 4,500 acres of land. There are currently around 2,300 dumpsites in urban areas holding a total of 22 crore MT of waste.

Lal noted that the focus during the campaign would be on cleaning smaller sites, while for larger CTUs, which require significant efforts, the process of tendering will begin within two weeks.

The ministry also announced the introduction of a special category — the 'Golden City Club' — for the annual Swachh Survekshan Awards.

Minimum export price for onion and basmati removed ahead of polls

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

AHEAD of Haryana and Maharashtra elections, the Centre has decided to remove the Minimum Export Price (MEP) condition on export of onion and basmati with immediate effect.

Maharashtra is the largest producer of onion whereas the largest basmati rice is produced by Haryana.

Farmers are facing challenges due to a higher MEP and have not been able to export the two commodities in the international market. The ruling BJP in both states are facing stiff challenges from voters in the Assembly elections.

In the recent Lok Sabha election, BJP governments faced setbacks in onion and basmati growing regions. Aggrieved farmers delivered a blow to the BJP which lost many seats in the two states.

The government had imposed MEP of $550 per tonne on onion in May 2024 and $950 per tonnes on basmati rice in October 2023. That led to a slump in domestic prices and losses to farmers and traders.

The demand for India's basmati rice in the international market was quite high as competitor Pakistan was not able to produce enough aromatic rice due to weather vagaries in 2022 and 2023. But in the current rice producing year, Pakistan has regained its international basmati rice market causing major losses to Indian farmers and traders.

Piyush Goyal, Union Minister of Commerce & Industry, has appreciated the decision of PM Modi, hailing his sensitivity towards farmers. He shared his order copy on social media.

In another notification, the Directorate General of Foreign Trade removed MEP condition on export of with immediate effect and until further orders.

TRADING SCAM

The Assam cabinet on Friday decided to transfer 32 cases registered in connection with the online trading scam to the CBI for investigation, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said.

POLL TIME: Elections prompt J&K parties to toe populist slogans • Sirsa MP Kumari Selja has managed to get 9 tickets for her loyalists

Soft separatist politics making a comeback in J&K Assembly polls?

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AFTER the abrogation of Article 370, the militancy-related violence in Jammu and Kashmir dropped significantly and separatist politics was pushed back with the arrest of separatist leaders and workers. However, if the current scenario is any indication, it'd seem soft separatist politics is making a comeback in the run-up to the first Assembly polls in J&K post scrapping of special status.

MP Er Rashid, who was released from over five years of detention from Tihar jail on Wednesday on interim bail by Delhi court, is the most vocal mainstream leader to talk about the Kashmir issue.

In his speeches since his release, Rashid, who was detained by NIA in a terror funding case in August 2019 and lodged in Tihar jail, has been calling for the resolution of Kashmir issue. "My struggle is not for power or limited to Article 370 but for the resolution of Kashmir issue, which is in the interest of people of the subcontinent," he said.

The focus of his speeches in rallies is on the resolution of Kashmir issue amidst slogans like "Jail ka badla vote se and Tihar ka badla vote se, (avenge jail with vote, Tihar with vote)."

Like Er Rashid, PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti is also playing up soft separatist call although she is not contesting the polls. PDP in its manifesto has advocated diplomatic initiatives between India and Pakistan, emphasizing conflict resolution, confidence-building measures, and regional cooperation.

It has also advocated for establishing full connectivity across the LoC for trade and social exchange and striving for the opening of old traditional trade routes to central and south Asia through J&K.

J&K's grand old party National Conference has promised to encourage dialogue between India and Pakistan and strive for full implementation of the Autonomy Resolution passed by the J&K Assembly in 2000, which was rejected by then BJP government led by Atal Bihari Vajpayee.

Such is the prevalence of "soft separatist" sentiment that Peoples Conference chairman Sajad Gani Lone, who was minister in the erstwhile BJP-PDP minister from the BJP quota, chanted anti-Modi and anti-BJP slogans while filing nomination papers on Thursday.

A political analyst said all mainstream parties have fought Assembly polls since eruption of militancy on a "soft separatist" plank. "What did Er Rashid's win in parliamentary election convey? Why did people vote for him? It was for sentiment and parties want to cash in on this sentiment," he said.

2 jawans killed, 2 hurt in Kishtwar ahead of PM visit

FAYAZ WANI @ New Delhi

A day before PM Narendra Modi's rally in Doda district, two soldiers were killed and two others critically injured in a gunfight with terrorists in neighbouring mountainous Kisthwar of J&K on Friday.

An Army official said acting on specific inputs, J&K police and Army launched a joint search operation in Chatroo area of Kishtwar in the morning. He said that contact was established with the hiding terrorists at around 3.30 pm.

"The terrorists fired on the search party. The fire was returned by the troops, triggering an encounter," the official said, adding that four soldiers sustained injuries. Two of them were critically injured. All the four injured soldiers were taken to nearby military hospital, where two of them died of injuries, the official said.

After the gunfight, more troops were rushed to the area to tighten the siege and prevent the terrorists from escaping from the area.

Hooda stamp in Cong nominations for Haryana polls

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IN the Congress candidate lists for the Haryana assembly elections, the stamp of Leader of Opposition and former CM Bhupinder Singh Hooda is evident. Of the 89 candidates announced, the Hooda camp was able to get ticket for 78 of its loyalists and the rest 11 belong to Kumari Selja and Randeep Singh Surjewala factions, according to party sources.

"Nomination of at last 48 candidates was delayed due to factionalism within the Congress and finally Hooda prevailed," a Congress leader said, wishing not be named. The former CM, however, could not get ticket for Chitra Sarwara from Ambala Cantonment. She came second in last assembly polls though she contested as an Independent.

Hooda's rival Sirsa MP Kumari Selja managed to get nine tickets for her loyalists, failing to convince the party to nominate her close aide Ajay Chaudhary for Narnaund even after declaring him as the candidate on September 11. She was also seeking ticket for a family member from Uklana.

The other Hooda rival and Rajya Sabha MP Surjewala got two tickets—one for his son from Kaithal and Narwana.

The Congress has fielded 12 women. As far as caste-wise break-up is concerned, the party has fielded 26 Jats, three Jat Sikhs, 17 Scheduled Castes, 20 Backward Classes (BCs), including Gujjars and Ahirs, five Brahmins, two Baniyas, seven Punjabis and one each from Bishnoi, Ror, Rajput and Sikh communities, an analysis of the lists shows.

Eyeing non-Jat and OBC votes, the BJP has given ticket to 11 Brahmins, 11 Punjabis, 20 BCs, 17 SCs and 16 Jats, three Rajputs, two Rors, two Muslims, five Baniyas, two Bishnois and one Jat Sikh.

All 6 accused of attacking Army officers arrested

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

ALL six men accused in the attack and loot of two young Army officers and the suspected gang-rape of one of their woman companions near Indore have been arrested.

Less than 24 hours after the arrest of the third accused, the three other accused were also arrested on Friday. A bounty of ₹10,000 each was placed on their arrest. The three accused arrested on Friday are aged between 18 and 25 years. Three other accused, including the main one (also involved in a previous murder and an attempted murder case) are currently on police remand.

Questioning of the accused has revealed that the main accused spotted the four—two Army officers and their two female friends—on the desolate area because of the loud music being played by them in the car at around 1.30 am on Wednesday. He subsequently informed his aides, who arrived there in around an hour, after which all six of them attacked and looted the four, the police said. The police are waiting for recording the statements of the suspected gang-rape survivor.

After Shimla, protests over 'illegal' mosque in Mandi as Sukhu warns of action

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FOLLOWING protests in Shimla over the "illegal" construction of a mosque, a clash erupted on Friday between Hindu groups and the police in Mandi over an alleged "illegal" mosque. After an all-party meeting, CM Sukhwinder Singh Sukhu issued a stern warning to lawbreakers, emphasising that the government respects all religions.

Raising slogans, Hindu groups marched through Mandi market before sitting on a dharna at Seri Manch. Later, when they tried to proceed towards the mosque, the police used water cannons to bring the situation under control. This occurred despite the fact that the mosque's management had demolished the unauthorised sections of the complex the previous day.

The construction took place on land belonging to PWD. Both PWD and the municipal corporation had served notices to the mosque management. The civic budy gave the mosque management one month to remove the encroachment. According to the notice, the mosque stands on 232 square metres of land, though approval had only been granted for 45 square metres.

"The PWD informed us that part of the mosque wall encroached on its land and we're served a notice. We then decided to demolish the wall," said Iqbal Ali, a member of the mosque panel.

Mandi SP Sakshi Verma said that the police had received information about a planned gathering by some organisations, which had called for protests. "We made arrangements to maintain law and order. Around 300 police personnel were deployed, and barricades were erected at the entrance of Mandi town," she said.

Conditional interim bail given to IAF officer in sexual assault case

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Jammu & Kashmir High Court has granted conditional anticipatory bail to an Indian Air Force wing commander against whom the police registered an FIR after a woman flying officer accused him of sexual assault. However, the court has directed the police to continue the investigation.

The Budgam police has registered FIR dated September 8 for commission of offence under Section 376(2) IPC, which pertains to aggravated rape committed by persons in positions of authority, against the wing commander.

The case was registered after a complaint was filed by a woman flying officer against the officer posted at IAF station in Srinagar. Both the officers are posted at the station.

The wing commander has filed an anticipatory bail plea in the HC. While hearing the application of the accused officer, HC judge Justice Rajnesh Oswal allowed the police to continue the investigation. He, however, directed that the chargesheet should not be filed without the court permission.

"The prima facie case for indulgence is made out at this stage... In case of his arrest, his reputation as well as service career shall be jeopardised," the judge observed.

The court asked Additional Advocate General Allau din Ganie to file a status report by or before the next date of hearing. In the event of an arrest, the court set terms and conditions for his release on bail.

"He shall furnish two solvent sureties of ₹50,000 each to the satisfaction of the investigating officer and personal bond of like amount. He shall not leave J&K UT without the permission of his Commanding Officer. He will not contact any of the prosecution witnesses either physically or through any other mode. He shall appear before the investigation office from September 14-16 from 10 am till 2 pm and thereafter as and when required," the judge ordered.

The next hearing of the case has been fixed on October 10. The flying officer in her complaint alleged the wing commander sexually assaulted her in his room on December 31, 2023 during a New Year's party.

Court rejects CBI closure report in Nat'l Games case

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

REJECTING the CBI's closure report submitted before it in the National Games scam case, the special CBI court in Ranchi has asked the probe agency to continue its investigation.

The CBI had filed a closure report last year citing lack of evidence, following which petitioners Surya Singh Besra and Pankaj Kumar Yadav challenged it on the basis of the report of the Legislative Assembly Committee.

After hearing the petitioners' side, special CBI court ordered the agency to continue probe. Though the order came on September 10, it was made public on Friday. The CBI took over the case from the ACB following the Jharkhand High Court order into the National Games scam. Misappropriation of ₹28.34 crore was detected after the 34th National Games was held in Ranchi, after which ACB filed an FIR.

Internal rift in Gujarat BJP escalates as leaders battle it out in the open

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

FACTIONALISM within the BJP in Gujarat has spilled into public view, reaching the police station as tensions escalate within the Kalol municipality in Gandhinagar district. On Friday, the chairman of the BJP's standing committee filed a police complaint following a brawl at the municipal office earlier in the week.

The chairman told the media that the complaint is against six-seven individuals, including a BJP corporator and a contractor, accusing them of assaulting him and the corporator's husband. The rift intensified on Thursday when 12 BJP corporators resigned simultaneously, triggering intervention from the state leadership due to concerns that the BJP may lose its majority in the municipality.

"I resigned in protest against the MLA's authoritarian behavior," Standing Committee Chairman Prakash Vargude told local media on Friday.

"If we are forced to follow the MLA's orders, there is no point in remaining with the party. We are authorized to run the municipality. I resigned three days ago, but I found out it has not been processed. Now, 11 more corporators have resigned, and another 8 are expected to follow today. I am here at the police station to file a complaint against a corporator, a contractor, and others who were seen in a video making slanderous and defamatory claims," he said.

When asked, Gandhinagar BJP president Anil Patel said, "Hooliganism will not be tolerated in the party. Action will be taken against those who insult our party corporators in the municipality. This is an internal matter, and we will resolve it. A complaint will be filed against those involved in assaulting our leaders."

With the resignation of 12 out of 33 BJP corporators in Kalol municipality, the BJP's count stands at 21, with 10 from Congress and 1 independent. If eight more BJP members step down, the party risks losing its majority in the municipality. Concerned about the possibility, state leaders have intervened.

Heavy rains pound U'khand, damage highways

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

TORRENTIAL rains which began on Wednesday night continued throughout Thursday throwing normal life out of gear. Landslides and rock falls blocked the Tanakpur-Pithoragarh National Highway for 12 hours, while over 75 roads, including four state highways, remain closed in the region.

Sources in the District Disaster Management office said the Dharchula-Tawaghat road connecting the state to the China border remains shut for the second consecutive day, stranding over 50 Kailash Mansarovar pilgrims in Dharchula.

Six houses were reduced to rubble and eight others are on the verge of collapse due to flash floods triggered by a breach of a lake formed by gypsum mining in Mangarh village in the Berinag development block. The disaster was caused by heavy rains.

DM Vinod Goswami and SP Rekha Yadav jointly visited the affected area to assess the situation and provided immediate relief to the affected families. A cheque of ₹1.3 lakh and an additional cash relief were handed over to each family. Additionally, ₹3,000 each were provided to two families who lost their cattle sheds.

More than 50 Mansarovar pilgrims stranded

The Dharchula-Tawaghat road connecting the state to the China border remains shut for the second consecutive day, stranding over 50 Kailash Mansarovar pilgrims in Dharchula. Six houses were reduced to rubble and eight others are on the verge of collapse due to flash floods triggered by a breach in a lake formed by gypsum mining in Mangarh village. The disaster was caused by heavy rains in the region.

A District Disaster Management Office spokesperson said the blocked Tanakpur-Tawaghat highway was cleared near Ghatkola after a five-hour operation. SDM Manjeet Singh inspected the road upon reaching Chetladhar. Due to continuous rains, the SDM has appealed to Adi Kailash pilgrims to avoid unnecessary travel.

"The situation is challenging, but we're working to restore connectivity," said the DDMA official, as heavy rainfall in Champawat and Almora districts blocked roads, stranding vehicles and passengers.

The Tanakpur-Pithoragarh highway was blocked near Gurna Santola, forcing many, including army personnel, to risk their lives and cross the debris-filled terrain. "We're doing our best to clear the roads, but the rain is making it difficult," said the DDMA spokesperson.

In Almora, the Salta-Almora route was severely affected, with a small bridge pillar near Mohaan shifting due to the rain, halting heavy vehicles' movement. Smaller vehicles were allowed to pass with caution. Landslides in the Danyas area and the Panyali stream swelling caused further disruptions, but PWD officials used JCBs to restore traffic flow.

CM Pushkar Singh Dhami has instructed the State Disaster Response Force teams and DMs to stay alert due to heavy rainfall affecting various parts of the state. He also urged residents to avoid unnecessary travel during this period. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) on Friday issued a red alert estimating the probability of severe rainfall on September 13 in Uttarakhand.

Chief Minister Nitish Kumar is set to embark on another state-wide journey after the Chhath festival in November with a special focus on women voters. Nitish, who is also national president of JD(U), will try to gauge the mood of women voters ahead of the assembly elections and will also get feedback from them about government-sponsored schemes for them. Women are considered to be core voters of Nitish as their support to him increased after he imposed prohibition in April 2016. Also, he has given 50% reservation to women in panchayati raj institutions and 35% quota for women in government jobs.

New 'bed & breakfast' scheme for 15 districts

Now, anyone with a house near tourist spots can earn extra money. NDA ally finds faults with liquor ban

Bihar's liquor ban has once again come under scrutiny, with Union minister and Hindustani Awam Morcha patron Jitan Ram Manjhi openly criticising its implementation. Manjhi expressed his dissatisfaction on how the prohibition law is enforced in the state. He accused the Bihar government of targeting poor citizens while letting off big liquor smugglers to go free. "Those who can afford are still consuming liquor. They've easy access to bootleggers who delivered at their doorstep," the former Bihar chief minister said. On the contrary, the poor and people from deprived sections of the society have been facing the brunt of law enforcing agencies.

Russia to expel six UK diplomats over alleged subversive activities

Starmer, Biden to weigh Ukraine's request to use long-range missiles

WASHINGTON

THE Russian authorities accused six British diplomats of spying and said they would be expelled, as tensions between Moscow and the West grow during an intensified push by Ukraine to loosen restrictions on using weapons provided by the United States and Britain to strike Russia.

Russia's Federal Security Service said in an online statement Friday that a decision was made to withdraw their accreditations, and Russian state television quoted an official from the security service known as the FSB as saying they would be expelled.

The move comes as Prime Minister Keir Starmer visits Washington for talks with President Joe Biden that will include Ukraine's request to use Western-supplied weapons against targets inside Russia.

Prime Minister Starmer said on his way to the US that Britain does not "seek any conflict with Russia." "Russia started this conflict. Russia illegally invaded Ukraine. Russia could end this conflict straight away," he told reporters.

"Ukraine has the right to self-defence and we've obviously been absolutely fully supportive of Ukraine's right to self-defense we're providing training capability, as you know. But we don't seek any conflict with Russia that's not our intention in the slightest," he said.

The FSB said it received documents indicating that the diplomats were sent to Russia by a division of the UK Foreign Office "whose main task is to inflict a strategic defeat on our country," and that they were involved in "intelligence-gathering and subversive activities."

Based on these documents and "in response to numerous unfriendly steps by London," the Russian Foreign Ministry withdrew the accreditation of the diplomats, the FSB said, without identifying them. It warned that if other diplomats are found to be carrying out "similar actions," the agency "will demand early termination of their missions" to Russia. Russian state TV said in a report that the six diplomats had met with independent media and rights groups that have been declared 'foreign agents' a label the Russian authorities have actively used against organizations and individuals critical of the Kremlin.

The British Embassy in Moscow did not immediately respond to a request for comment. There was no immediate comment from Britain's Foreign Office. AP

PUTIN'S WARNING

Russia has warned that it would consider allowing such long-range strikes an act of war, and Ukraine's Western allies are trying to avoid a direct confrontation with Russia

If allies are jointly shooting down missiles and drones in the sites of the Middle East, why is there still no similar decision to jointly shoot down Russian missiles and (Iranian) Shaheds in the skies of Ukraine? They (the West) are afraid to even say 'we are working on it' - Volodymyr Zelenskyy, Ukrainian president

Ukraine wants to strike deep inside Russia

Ukraine is pushing for permission from its Western partners to use the long-range missiles they have provided to strike targets deep inside Russia

LONG-RANGE MISSILES IN UKRAINE'S HAND

- British-led Storm Shadow
- French-made SCALP
- US-made Army Tactical Missile System

The air-launched Storm Shadow and the ground-launched ATACMS are already being used by Ukraine to carry out pinpoint strikes on military installations and strategic infrastructure inside its Russian-occupied territories – but not on Russian soil

Germany has long refused to send its long-range TAURUS missiles, citing concerns over international escalation

HOW THEY HELP KYIV

Ukraine sees the ability to use long-range missiles behind enemy lines as a game-changer, allowing it to target air bases, supply depots, and communication centers hundreds of kilometers over the border

SEATTLE

THOUSANDS of Boeing factory workers in the United States walked off the job Friday after voting overwhelmingly to reject a contract with the aviation giant, its first strike in 16 years.

Union leaders called for the strike to start just after midnight on Friday (0700 GMT), hours after hourly workers in the Seattle region in the Pacific Northwest spurned the tentative contract with a vote of 94.6% and to strike with 96% . A strike will shutter two major plane assembly plants for the 737 MAX and 777 in the Puget Sound region and sidelines some 33,000 workers, further delaying the company's turnaround efforts.

"Our members spoke loud and clear tonight," said Jon Holden, president of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers District 751, after the vote.

Picketers were out in front of the Renton plant -- where Boeing's flagship 737 Max aircraft is produced -- in the early hours of Friday, holding signs reading "On strike against Boeing", according to Bloomberg.

Thursday's vote was a decisive rejection of a deal that line workers said was far less generous than depicted by Boeing executives, marking the latest show of defiance by unions following earlier strikes in the auto, entertainment and other industries. Boeing said it was "ready to get back to the table to reach a new agreement."

Led by new CEO Kelly Ortberg, Boeing had hoped a 25 percent wage hike over four years and a commitment to invest in the Puget Sound region would be enough. Ortberg argued in a message to staff that the general wage hike marked the largest in history, and that a strike "would put our shared recovery in jeopardy". But rank-and-file workers reacted with fury to the agreement, which was initially backed by IAM leadership.

Workers had sought a 40% wage hike and critics have said the 25% figure is inflated because the new deal also eliminates an annual company bonus. Other points of contention include the deal's failure to restore a pension, as well as Boeing's pledge to build its next plane in the Seattle region. AP

Israeli forces withdraw from West Bank's Tubas

TUBAS

THE families of Palestinians who were killed in an air strike in the occupied West Bank city of Tubas held funerals on Friday after Israeli forces withdrew following their latest raid in the territory.

Violence in the Palestinian territory had already soared alongside the nearly 12-month-old war in Gaza but in late August Israel began large-scale raids that residents say marked an escalation.

A military statement on Friday said Israeli forces had "conducted a 48-hour counter-terrorism operation" in the areas of Tubas, Tamun and Faraa, killing "five armed terrorists" in an air strike and a sixth in "exchanges of fire" with "a terrorist that hurled explosive devices". Major Israeli operations in the West Bank are sometimes occurring "at a scale not witnessed in the last two decades," the United Nations human rights chief said this week.

The official Palestinian news agency Wafa said the military withdrew from Tubas on Thursday evening, allowing the funerals to go ahead.

The four men buried in Tubas on Friday were killed in the air strike, which the Palestine Red Crescent Society said occurred at dawn on Wednesday.

On Friday morning, hundreds of people including armed Palestinian militants walked through the streets of Tubas alongside the four bodies hoisted on stretchers and wrapped in white cloth.

Some in the crowd waved the green flag of the Palestinian Islamist movement Hamas and gunfire punctuated the mourners' chants. "I woke up in the morning to the sound of an explosion," Ahmed Sawafta, father of one of the dead men, told AFP, describing the strike on Wednesday. "My brothers came and told me that Yassin had been martyred," he said, referring to his son. AFP

North Korea releases its nuke enrichment facility's images

SEOUL

NORTH Korea released images of its uranium enrichment facility for the first time on Friday, showing leader Kim Jong Un touring it as he called for more centrifuges to boost his nuclear arsenal.

The country, which conducted its first nuclear test in 2006 and is under rafts of UN sanctions for its banned weapons programmes, has never publicly disclosed details of its uranium enrichment facility. Such facilities produce highly enriched uranium — which is needed to produce nuclear warheads — by spinning the fissile material in centrifuges at high speeds.

Kim toured the Nuclear Weapons Institute and the "production base of weapon-grade nuclear materials," the official Korean Central News Agency reported, without giving the location of the facility or the date of the visit.

Kim "stressed the need to further augment the number of centrifuges in order to exponentially increase the nuclear weapons for self-defence," state media reported, publishing images of Kim inspecting rows of centrifuges.

The North Korean leader urged the facility to "push forward the introduction of a new-type centrifuge... so as to further strengthen the foundation for producing weapon-grade nuclear materials".

North Korea's nuclear weapons programmes are banned by UN sanctions. AFP

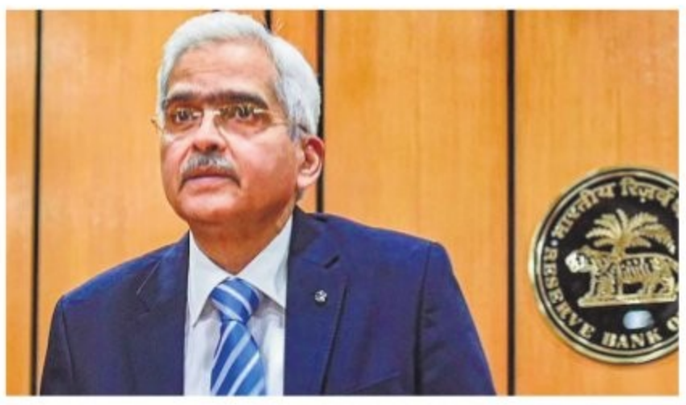
PROBLEMS ARE NOT STOP SIGNS, THEY ARE GUIDELINES

ROBERT H SCHULLER

'Realty exposure may be short-sellers' target'

Guv expresses concerns over proliferation of non-bank institutions in fin intermediation may create systemic risks

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai



THE Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das has flagged concerns about banks having large commercial real estate exposures, saying they may be shortsellers' targets.

The governor expressed concerns over the proliferation of non-bank institutions in financial intermediation may create systemic risks to financial stability due to their sheer size, complexity and interconnectedness with domestic and global financial systems, as was visible in some advance economies leading to periods of market dysfunction.

"Hidden leverage and liquidity mismatches of these institutions can amplify systemic shocks and propagate strains throughout financial system, Das warned addressing the third meeting of Bretton Woods Committee's future of finance forum in Singapore, Friday.

Warning on the increasing exposure of banks to global commercial real estate (CRE), Das said "stress in the global commercial realty sector needs to be watched closely as banks exhibit high sensitivity to expected and unexpected CRE losses, due to the relatively high CRE coverage ratios in their loan books."

"Further, liquidity squeezes can materialise for banks with large CRE exposures, as short sellers may target them and investor confidence may slip further," Das warned and advised that staying alert and undertaking forward looking regulatory measures ahead of the curve can contain the risks to bank balance-sheets and systemic stability.

Domestic banks have been increasing their lending to the commercial realty, showing renewed confidence in the market. As per the latest RBI data released in May, bank's CRE portfolio jumped by a huge 22.94% year-on-year to ₹3.96 trillion as of March 2024.

Talking on the country's growth, the governor expressed confidence that the economy has the potential to grow at 7.5% or more, which is a little above the bank's full-year forecast for fiscal 2025 of 7.2%.

"I think India's potential growth today...is about 7.5 percent-plus. This year, we expect the economy to record 7.2 percent," Das said and described the slower growth of 6.7 percent in the first quarter mostly due to low government expenditure during the national elections. However, he said the improvement in merchandise exports was below expectation as external demand is not as robust as before, though he said services exports have already picked up.

Economy has potential to grow at 7.5%: Das

On country's growth, the governor expressed confidence that the economy has the potential to grow at 7.5% or more, which is a little above the bank's full-year forecast for fiscal 2025 of 7.2%. Talking on the country's growth, the governor expressed confidence that the economy has the potential to grow at 7.5% or more, which is a little above the bank's full-year forecast for fiscal 2025 of 7.2%.

Ford re-enters Tamil Nadu 3 yrs after leaving

C SHIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

FORD Motor Company on Friday said it has submitted a Letter of Intent (LOI) to the Tamil Nadu government, confirming its intention to utilise its Chennai plant, repurposing it to focus on manufacturing for export to global markets.

The US-based automobile manufacturer exited the Indian market in 2022. The announcement of its return follows a meeting between the Ford leadership and Chief Minister MK Stalin during his visit to the US. The manufacturer, in a press note, said it would soon disclose the details on the type of manufacturing to be carried out in the Chennai unit. During his meeting with the Ford executives in Chicago on Tuesday, the CM urged the company to renew its three-decade partnership with the state by restarting operations at its Maraimalai Nagar plant.

Ford's return to the state is the culmination of the state government's year-long efforts, said the industries department, attributing it to the efforts of the CM and industries minister TRB Rajaa.

The government's efforts to make use of the Maraimalai Nagar facility intensified in June 2023, when several automobile investors expressed interest in acquiring the site. In July 2023, Rajaa visited San Francisco, where he initiated talks with Ford on the future of the plant and the associated land.

Ford requested six months to evaluate the situation and return with a decision. During October-November 2023, several rounds of talks were held, both online and in person, between the Industries Department and Ford regarding possible ways forward, but no decision was made. By early 2024, there were reports that Ford was leaning toward restarting its operations at the facility.

In July 2024, Rajaa visited Ford's facility in Dearborn, Michigan, where he met the leadership and highlighted the rapid advancements in Tamil Nadu's automotive sector, especially in EVs, with Vinfast and Tata JLR choosing the state for their new plants. He underscored the state's EV ecosystem and the rising demand for EVs.

Culmination of state govt's year-long efforts

Ford's return to the state is the culmination of the state government's year-long efforts, said the industries department, attributing it to the efforts of the CM and industries minister TRB Rajaa. In July 2024, Rajaa visited Ford's facility in Dearborn, Michigan, where he met the leadership.

SRI LANKA

ECONOMY REPORTS 4.7% GROWTH IN Q2

The economy of Sri Lanka grew 4.7% year-on-year from April to June this year, official data showed on Friday. The country's agriculture sector grew 1.7% from a year earlier, industrial output expanded by 10.9%, and services grew by 2.5%, the Census and Statistics Department said in a statement. Lower power and fuel prices, reduced import restrictions, improved tourism and remittances earnings all contributed to a strong rebound, it added. Struck by a severe dollar shortfall, the economy went into freefall in 2022, falling 7.3% as it grappled with soaring inflation, a sharply weaker currency and a historic foreign debt default. The economy has been recovering after securing a $2.9 billion bailout from the International Monetary Fund in March last year and is on track to reach a 3 per cent growth target after a gap of two years, analysts said.

JAPAN

AUGUST WHOLESALE INFLATION SLOWS

The annual wholesale inflation in Japan eased in August as the yen's rebound weighed on import costs, official data showed. It took some pressure off the Bank of Japan (BoJ) to address upward price risks with near-term interest rate hikes. The corporate goods price index (CGPI), which measures the price companies charge each other for their goods and services, grew 2.5% in August from a year earlier, BOJ data showed, slowing from a 3.0% gain in July. The sharp rise of country's currency during the month weighed on yen-based import price index that surged by 2.6% in the year to August after a 10.8% spike in July, the data showed. On a month-on-month basis, wholesale prices fell 0.2% in August.

SOUTH KOREA

BOK REPORTS 92.1% DEBT RATIO TO GDP IN Q1

South Korea's household debt ratio to GDP, which peaked at 99.3% in Q3 of 2021, has been decreasing but remains high. As per the Bank of Korea's Monetary Credit Policy Report released on September 12, the household debt ratio to GDP in Q1 was recorded at 92.1%, making it the fourth highest among the 31 OECD countries. This high level of household debt poses a major risk to economic growth. The BOK has projected that the household debt ratio is likely to remain elevated due to rising housing prices in Seoul metropolitan area. The report said if household loans in financial sector rise by 6 trillion won ($4.6 billion) a month, household debt ratio to GDP will rise to 92.2% in the second quarter.

'Ecom Express used incorrect nos in DRHP'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

SOFTBANK-backed logistics firm Delhivery has claimed that IPO-bound Ecom Express has used misleading data about the company in its draft initial public offering prospectus.

Last month, Ecom Express submitted the draft prospectus and claimed it had shipped 514.41 million packages in FY24 and compared it with Delhivery which handled 740 million packages during the same period.

Delhivery said in its filings that this comparison is problematic on several counts as

"Per shipment metrics hugely vary depending on shipment profile – weight profile for Delhivery and peer will be significantly different due to different client mix."Pointing out cost per shipment (CPS) calculation, Delhivery said that the Service Ebitda cannot be compared due to lack of clarity on consistent definition of corporate costs.The logistics firm also said that Delhivery delivers pan India and covers 18,793 pin codes as of March 31, 2024, and that there are 19,300 unique pin codes in the country. Ecom Express claims that it offers services in 27,000 pin codes.

> Per shipment metrics hugely vary depending on shipment profile – weight profile for Delhivery and peer will be significantly different due to different client mix
> Delhivery

Delhivery also said that the automation intensity of a logistics network is determined by sortation capacity in terms of number of shipments that can be sorted and not by the number of sorters or number of sortation centres.

Delhivery had 29 Automated Sortation Centres with 41 sorters and a sortation capacity of about 213 million shipments per month as of March 31, 2024.

Sebi chief Buch, husband counter Cong allegations, warn of legal remedies

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

UNDER fire from the Opposition Congress for over a fortnight now, Sebi chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch and husband Dhaval have countered the allegations and issued a statement in their personal capacity.

They stated Buch has never dealt with any file involving Agora Advisory, the consultancy firm she started before joining the regulator, or any of the business groups as alleged by the Congress after assuming the regulatory role. They have termed the Congress' accessing their income tax return details is violative of Income Tax Act and were obtained by "'fraudulent means," and warned of seeking legal remedies.

The statement came on a day, another Opposition member of Parliament, Mahua Moitra of the TMC, moved the Lokpal filing a complaint against Buch. In her role in consultancy firm Agora that she founded when she was a private citizen, the statement said in keeping with the highest standards of governance, Madhabi has never dealt with any file involving Agora Advisory, Agora Partners, Mahindra Group, Pidilite, Dr Reddy's, Alvarez & Marsal, Sembcorp, Visu Leasing or ICICI Bank at any stage after her joining the Sebi. As evident from the above facts and the communications from these companies, the allegations are false, malicious and defamatory," said the statement issued by the Buchs, which also referred to the official statements from the companies named in the Congress allegations.

The statement further clarified that ICICI Bank's payment to Agora was interest payments on deposits and that "ascribing motive to it is unfortunate and defamatory".

Nadal withdraws from Laver Cup in Berlin

Rafael Nadal withdrew from next week's Laver Cup in Berlin on Thursday, leaving it unclear when the Spanish great will play again. SOUTH ASIAN JR C'SHIP: INDIA FINISH ON A HIGH

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

INDIA'S No 1 junior javelin thrower Deepika was the cynosure of all eyes as she bagged a gold medal with a throw off 54.98m (previous record held by S Choudhary 48.08m) and created a new mark at the fourth edition of South Asian Junior Athletics Championship held at Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium, here on Friday. Poonam of India came second with 51.21m, while WG Nisansala (Sri Lanka) 35.02m bagged the third spot. India's medal tally swelled to 48 medals and the home team won the overall championship. Sri Lanka finished second with 35 medals. Bangladesh came a distant third with three bronze.

Deepika gripped the javelin in a stable manner, had a smooth run up, her crossovers were precise and her final strides were spot on for a perfect throw. The large crowd consisting of athletes and their families from various nations, the local die-hard fans and former Olympians watching the proceedings in the evening under lights were bowled over by Deepika's craft. "Very pleased and happy with my performance. Credit to my coach (Hanuman Singh) and all my teammates for encouraging me to do well," said a shy Deepika after bagging the gold. Deepika had earlier taken part in the Khelo India Youth Games 2024 in Chennai where she bagged a gold and broke her previous meet record. "The fact that I took part earlier this year in the Khelo youth games in Chennai also helped me as I was aware of the conditions and familiar with the track," insisted Deepika.

Former Olympian and ace athlete Shiny Wilson who watched the proceedings was impressed by the show of the Indian athletes and praised Deepika in particular. "Good show by our team (Indian). Deepika was brilliant, she gave a good display of her craft. She has the talent and if she works hard can go up the ladder," said Shiny. Inspired by her idol Neeraj Chopra, javelin thrower Deepika who is sporting a boyish crop has a knack of breaking meet records. "After Neeraj Sir's Olympic medals and watching his performance I developed more passion for javelin. I want to step by step improve my game and be like Neeraj sir one day," said Deepika, with her ambition visible in her sparkling eyes.

The man who is working towards achieving her dream is coach Hanuman Singh, who Deepika trusts blindly. "Deepika used to live next to my academy in Haryana (Fatehabad). She stays half a kilometer away but she is still a dedicated and hard working girl. She has good work ethics and importantly is ambitious. Without ambition and setting goals, one can never improve. She wants to continuously raise the bar and as a coach it makes my job easier," said Hanuman Singh. "She is a sincere and dedicated performer. Apart from good technique, she has an abundance of self confidence. She has the ability to grasp things quickly. She is unfazed by the competition and goes about her task in a single minded manner," Hanuman Singh added.

Training under Arshad bhai is a dream: Afridi

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

EVEN as Mohammad Billal Afridi was warming up for the javelin throw event of South Asian Junior Athletics Championship at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium in Chennai, a bunch of Pakistani officials were sitting on the stands. They were eagerly waiting for Afridi to throw the javelin - a sport that has given hope to millions back home to succeed on the biggest stage - the Olympics. Afridi finished behind India's Rohan Yadav, Dipanshu Sharma and Dilhara Danasinghe (Sri Lanka).

If Arshad Nadeem has done, so can we, has been the general refrain as youngsters are milling for holding that spear in the hand and hurl. Arshad's 92.97m throw, an Olympic record, was enough to fetch him the top prize, Pakistan's first individual gold medal in the mega event. "Naturally, it has sparked a revolution," said Rana Tanveer, assistant manager of the Pakistan team that is participating at the South Asian Athletics Championships here. The talking point was how an unorthodox style javelin thrower with minimum support managed to win gold in the Olympics. He could not compete in the European circuit because of paucity of funds. All he does is train in Lahore most of the time. Tanveer, however, said that the Pakistan government had supported him. He said the Athletics Federation of Pakistan headed by Mohammad Akram Sahi helped him as well. "Arshad was sent to Hungary, China and recently South Africa for training," he said, adding that they ensured that he got the best facilities internationally.

There was madness on his return to the country. Tanveer also said that the country bestowed upon him the greatest honour -- from money to cars, bungalows to buffalos. "We have a lot of support but we need to give them international standard support. We are giving and our endeavour would be to produce more such Arshad Nadeems. Because there is that innate desire to excel."

For Afridi though, training under Arshad would be a dream come true. He said how he met a day before Arshad left for the Olympics and spoke with the junior athletes. "He had said that he would do something," recollected Afridi, adding that they had so much confidence in the Arshad 'bhai' that they believed he could throw beyond 95m. "We thought he could throw that but he did 92.97m," said Afridi who is hoping to emulate his idol. "I did not do as I wanted but somehow managed to do my personal best in the 800g javelin. I am looking forward to training with Arshad bhai soon. He told us that there he would train us in batches before leaving for Paris and now we are all hoping that he does." Tanveer was not alone. International athlete Chaudhary Iqbal Akhtar and president (women wing) of Pakistan Athletics Federation Abida Tanveer too were sitting alongside him. The Pakistan delegate was more interested in the result of Afridi. Tanveer felt that India and Pakistan cricket teams should be playing more matches like in other sports.

India train behind closed doors

Hosts put through their paces in first training session at the MA Chidambaram Stadium in Chennai ahead of busy season in the presence of head coach and new support staff

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

HAVING arrived in batches over the last couple of days, the Indian team had a closed-door training session at the MA Chidambaram Stadium on Friday. With less than a week to go for the first Test against Bangladesh, the Indian team, coached by Gautam Gambhir, were put through their paces, perhaps for the first time since all the support staff were appointed.

While assistant coaches Abhishek Nayar and Ryan ten Doeschate travelled with Gambhir to Sri Lanka, the latest appointment was bowling coach Morne Morkel, who was with the team on Friday.

Pretty much the entire squad was present including Rohit Sharma, who landed on Thursday night. Virat Kohli, whose last Test on home soil was against Australia last March, was one of the last to arrive as he landed on Friday. R Ashwin, Ravindra Jadeja, Jasprit Bumrah, Yashasvi Jaiswal and Kuldeep Yadav, players who can already be considered as locks to feature in the first Test on Thursday, were also present.

Among the players who were not at the venue was Sarfaraz Khan, currently in Anantapur, playing the second round of Duleep Trophy for India B. That KL Rahul has been included and had a good knock in the opening round are indications that he might walk in as No 5 after missing out for a majority of the England series because of an injury. Similarly, a toss up between Dhruv Jurel and Pant, who last played a Test in December 2022, will also be interesting. That Pant has been named in the squad for the Test in Chennai means he could play the first match and then be rested with Jurel coming in. It could be clear in the coming days as the Indian team continues to train at the venue.

Meanwhile, the Bangladesh team and the support staff are expected to arrive directly in the city early next week. Shakib Al Hasan, who was playing county cricket for Surrey in England, will be arriving separately. They will be training for three-four days in the lead up to the Test on September 19.

Inclement weather

With monsoon weak over peninsular India, the city is in the middle of a prolonged dry spell, with temperatures regularly hovering around the 36*c mark over the last week or so. However, an instability in the atmosphere could be around the corner, just in time for the first Test. If forecasts hold true, there could be severe thunderstorms, especially during the first three days of the Test.

New covers for Green Park

After the Chennai Test, India and Bangladesh are scheduled to reach Kanpur via chartered flights on September 24. With the second Test starting three days later, the teams will have two practice sessions ahead of the match. Bangladesh will train in the morning on September 25 while the home team will practice in the evening. The next day, India will go first in the training nets with the visitors practising in the evening.

The weather forecast suggests day one of the match will be mostly cloudy with chances of a thunderstorm in spots in the morning and a passing shower in the afternoon. The forecast is the same for the preceding day. It is expected to remain cloudy with a couple of showers and a thunderstorm in the afternoon. With the monsoon withdrawing during that period, the Uttar Pradesh Cricket Association (UPCA) has ordered new covers to make sure the whole ground is covered if it rains. "The covers have been ordered through the BCCI and they are on their way. We are also keeping a tab on the weather and at the moment, it seems all clear. However, we are ready to cover the entire ground if need arises with the new covers," said a UPCA official.

ACT hockey: Favourites India look to continue supremacy over Pakistan

AGENCIES @Hulunbuir (China)

A SEMIFINAL berth already secured, unbeaten India will look to continue the winning run and supremacy over arch-rivals Pakistan in their last round-robin match of the Asian Champions Trophy on Saturday. With four wins out of as many games, defending champions India are leading the points table, followed by Pakistan. India have defeated hosts China 3-0, Japan 5-1, trouncing Malaysia 8-1 before registering a 3-1 victory against Korea.

India captain Harmanpreet Singh, regarded as one of the best drag-flickers in the world, is continuing his good form from Paris, and is excited to resume the rivalry against Pakistan. "I have been playing with some of the players in the Pakistan team since my junior days and we share a special bond with them. They are like my brothers. Of course, on the field, we will go about the match like we would against any other opponent and make sure we keep our emotions in check," he said. "In world hockey, the rivalry the two teams share is unparalleled and I am sure fans across the globe will be waiting for an India-Pakistan match." Though India enjoys an edge over Pakistan, Harmanpreet is least bothered about past results. "Past results will not matter when we take on a team like Pakistan. They are a tough side and have the potential to bounce back at any stage in the game," he said.

Olympiad: India continue winning run

AGENCIES @Budapest

MAGNUS Carlsen got lost in the rain, was dripping wet when he entered the playing hall and almost had to forfeit the game on his first game of the 2024 edition of the Olympiad. However, the five-time world champion just about managed to take his place on Norway's top board against Colombia.

Elsewhere, there were no such problems for Arjun Erigaisi as he continued his winning ways. In a dominating performance, he made it three wins from as many days as he picked up the first win for India's Open team in the third round on Friday. But it wasn't all wins for the Open side as Vidit Gujrathi only managed to draw against Hungary B's team Gabor Papp.

In the women's category, Divya Deshmukh showed why she's very highly rated as she won with black pieces over Switzerland's Sofia Hryzlova. In Board 2, R Vaishali put India in a strong position as she won with white against Ghazal Hakimifard.

Afghanistan-NZ Test abandoned without a ball being bowled

GREATER NOIDA: The one-off Test between Afghanistan and New Zealand was called off on Friday without a ball being bowled owing to incessant rain here, making it only the eighth instance of a match being abandoned in such a manner in the history of five-day games. It was the first time that a Test was abandoned without any play at an Indian venue. The first two days were cancelled because of a wet outfield while persistent rain washed out the remaining three days.

Crasto-Kapila register thrilling win to enter Vietnam Open semifinals

HO CHI MINH CITY: India's mixed doubles pair of Tanisha Crasto and Dhruv Kapila progressed to the semifinals of the Vietnam Open with a thrilling win in the Super 100 badminton tournament on Friday. Seeded sixth, Dhruv and Tanisha eked out a come-from-behind 14-21, 21-10, 21-14 win over fellow Indians Sathish Kumar Karunakaran and Aadya Variyath, seeded top. Tharun Mannepalli's impressive run, however, came to an end as he went down 13-21, 13-21 against Japan's Shogo Ogawa.

DULEEP TROPHY

Agarwal, Pratam give India A edge over India D

AGENCIES @Anantapur

HALF-CENTURIES by skipper Mayank Agarwal and Pratam Singh helped India A reach 115 for one in their second innings and extend their hold over India D after second day's play of the Duleep Trophy on Friday. India A, who made 290 in their first innings, earlier bowled out their opponents for 183 despite Devdutt Padikkal's valiant 92 to gain a lead of 107 runs. Meanwhile, India B openers Abhimanyu Easwaran and Narayan Jagadeesan made a confident start with an unbroken partnership of 124 after India C posted a mammoth first-innings total of 525.

Leading the India B side, Easwaran made his runs in 91 balls with the help of four fours and a six, while wicketkeeper Jagadeesan faced 126 deliveries and struck eight boundaries during his stay in the middle. Besides going wicket-less, India C were also forced to take frontline bowler Sandeep Warrier off the attack after the medium pacer suffered an injury at the start of the India B innings. Earlier, the young Manav Suthar excelled with a neat 82 that anchored the India C innings. Leg-spinner Rahul Chahar was the most successful bowler for India C. However, Agarwal would be kicking himself for falling on the last ball of the day to part-time spinner Shreyas Iyer, spooning a simple return catch. But till that point, Agarwal and Pratam executed some fluent drives and cuts as the run-rate never came under four. Earlier, a century was there for taking, but Padikkal fell just eight runs shy as his attempt to play a shot on the up off Prasidh Krishna ended up in a simple catch to stumper Kumar Kushagra.

Davis Cup: Balaji to do singles duty vs Sweden

AGENCIES @Stockholm

FOR the second consecutive Davis Cup tie, India are relying on doubles specialist N Sriram Balaji to do the singles duty with captain Rohit Rajpal on Friday deciding to play him on the opening day of the World Group I contest against Sweden along with Ramkumar Ramanathan. Balaji, who competed in singles in Pakistan early this year on grass court, will open the indoor tie with a match against Swedish number one player Elias Ymer (ranked 238) on Saturday.

India number one Ramkumar (ranked 332) will take on Leo Borg (ranked 603), the son of legendary Swede Bjorn Borg in the second singles. They have not played against each other before on the ATP Tour.

Ramkumar and Balaji will also play the doubles on Sunday against Filip Bergevi and Andre Goransson and the reverse singles. However, the doubles line-up could change if the score is 1-1 at the end of day one. India's top singles player Sumit Nagal made himself unavailable for the tie due to a back issue while the next best option Sasikumar Mukund was not considered for selection.

INDIA'S ROAD TO NET-ZERO EMISSION VIA LAND CONFLICT AND WATER CRISIS

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

INDIA'S net-zero ambition is fraught with palpable crises – land conflicts and water challenges. It's a grim reminder to the world that global warming cannot be limited by extending the historical emissions burden to those who had no role in it.

India's target to achieve net-zero emission by 2070 is mostly dependent on exploitations of solar and onshore wind energy. However, the realisation of the full potential of a country's renewable energy could trigger large scale land conflicts and food security crises as it requires large swathes of land.

A new study on 'Unlocking India's RE and Green Hydrogen Potential: An Assessment of Land, Water, and Climate Nexus' found that to achieve it, the country will have to face land conflicts and extreme pressure on water and food. Further, climate change impact will exacerbate it.

Conducted by the Council on Energy, Environment and Water (CEEW), a New Delhi-based non-profit, the study estimated that India has an RE potential of over 24,000 giga watt (GW) but requires only 7,000 GW to achieve the net-zero target. The current installed RE capacity is 150 GW.

According to the study, even raising the capacity up to 1,500 GW could face critical challenges, as multiple constraints such as land access, water crisis, climate risks, and population density come into play.

This first-of-its kind study mapped India's potential landmass and applied real-world constraints in scaling up its RE and green hydrogen potential. It did the assessment using detailed 5x5 km grid cells, which offer a more practical understanding of what can actually be developed and where.

"While our RE potential is vast, the road to net zero is fraught with challenges," says Dr Arunabha Ghosh, CEO, CEEW. "From land conflicts and population density to the unpredictable but undeniable impact of climate change, every step forward will demand resilience and innovation," Ghosh adds.

Onshore wind potential

India has an onshore wind potential of 1,790 GW for a hub height of 100 m and power load factor (PLF) cut-off of 30%. The study estimates a requirement of 28 acres of land for producing 1 MW of energy.

The land required for wind potential largely consists of agricultural land followed by range land and bare ground, which could impact the country's food security.

The analysis indicates that around 41% of the wind potential (732 GW) is in areas with high population density of over 400 people per sq km, posing a potential risk of mobilisation against the development of wind power projects. Further, around 19% of the total wind potential is located in high conflict districts, which have experienced more than three face-offs.

However, the absence of conflict doesn't imply there will be no conflict. The study underlined that conflicts could arise as the scale of RE ramps up. For instance, currently 31% wind power is located in areas where three or more conflicts have already occurred.

Solar potential

Analysis shows that around 5 acres of land is required for producing 1 MW of power from solar fields. The study estimated the country's net solar potential as 20,270 GW. But a power load factor (PLF) greater than 23 would require approximately 13% of India's total land area.

The assessment indicates that rangelands account for 91% of the net solar potential and are preferred for setting up solar power projects. The share of bare ground is 9% of India's solar capacity.

However, rangeland is important for millions of families. Limiting the likelihood of any conflict during the acquisition process is important for their livelihood.

In addition, there is a wind-solar hybrid (WSH) potential, which is calculated based on the availability of co-located solar and wind resources in India. The assessment shows that there is 3,700 GW potential of WSH, assuming a wind PLF cut-off of 30%, in which solar accounts for 84%.

Green hydrogen and water nexus

Water availability is a key prerequisite for the production of green hydrogen. Green hydrogen would be cost effective only if the electrolyser would run in Wind-Solar Hybrid (WSH) areas, which are mostly in water scarce areas.

Approximately 56 million tonnes per annum (MTPA) of green hydrogen can be produced in WSH areas without encountering any water availability challenges. These areas, mostly in western and southern India, can be developed as low-cost green hydrogen production centres.

But in some WSH areas like Western Rajasthan, water would have to be transported from other regions to continue production of green hydrogen. Besides, one-fourth of green hydrogen production potential is located in areas with no groundwater availability.

H_2 THE WAY FORWARD

- Validate RE and green hydrogen potential using better quality data and on-ground assessments
- Create graded land banks for RE and green hydrogen projects
- Encourage the utilisation of existing landholdings for RE development
- Evaluate grid infrastructure where there is promising RE potential
- Evaluate offshore potential, especially for green hydrogen export
- Evaluate grid resilience and power storage requirements to address seasonality
- Evaluate the potential for agro-voltaics, especially in horticultural areas
- Prevent desertification that will limit access to RE
- Develop water management policies specifically for energy production
- Assess the need for developing surface water storage

ODISHA YET TO SET ITS DECARBONISATION GOAL

SUDARSAN MAHARANA @ Bhubaneswar

AS India aims to achieve its ambitious target of net-zero emission by 2070, states are expected to play a pivotal role in driving the country towards the goal. However, Odisha despite being one of the first states to prepare its action plan to fight climate change, is yet to set its decarbonisation target, raising apprehensions about its commitment to the zero emission objective.

At the 26th Conference of Parties (COP-26) held in Glasgow in 2021, Prime Minister Narendra Modi had announced that India will achieve net-zero emissions by 2070. The PM had also announced that the country will take significant steps before 2030 to realise this goal.

The target, however, relies heavily on the participation of states, especially those with high industrial activity. Odisha is one such state that has figured in the list of top states in terms of CO_2 emissions. A report, 'Challenges and Policy Implications of a Low Carbon Pathway for Odisha', released by the National Council of Applied Economic Research (NCAER) in January this year revealed that the net greenhouse gas (GHG) emission of the coastal state, known for its vast mineral resources and industrial sectors, is about 9.3%.

Though the state has taken significant steps to facilitate a transition towards renewable energy and fight climate change, it appears to be moving slowly in formulating a clear decarbonisation roadmap. As it is, only a handful of states have clearly underlined the target they have set for achieving net-zero emission.

However, Odisha is the first state to get its second phase of climate action plan approved from the National Steering Committee on Climate Change (NSCCC) under the Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change (MoEFCC).

It has outlined a whopping investment of ₹2.45 lakh crore between 2021 and 2030 for climate adaptation and mitigation activities in key sectors, including water resources, forestry, urban development and agriculture. However, authorities of the state Forest, Environment and Climate Change department said Odisha's plan to achieve net-zero carbon emission is still under consideration of the state government.

Industrial experts and environmentalists have already underlined that being an energy and emission-intensive state with high production of steel, aluminum, coal, minerals and electricity, the path of decarbonisation for Odisha would be challenging. They have pointed out that decarbonising the economy would require a state-specific solution while meeting the energy security targets and sustainable development goals.

A senior forest official from the department said the process to prepare a roadmap for achieving net-zero carbon emission in line with the country's decarbonisation plan has already started. "While a secretary-level meeting has already been held, the department had a meeting with the Council on Energy, Environment and Water (CEEW) to proceed further in this direction," he said.

Forest and environment minister Ganesh Ram Singhkhuntia said steps to set a goal for net-zero emission in the state will be taken soon. He said that during a meeting chaired by Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi recently, a decision was taken for coordination among all departments to reduce the carbon footprint in development. "We are also initiating steps to reduce overall carbon emission and mitigate their contribution to climate change through carbon trading," Singhkhuntia said.

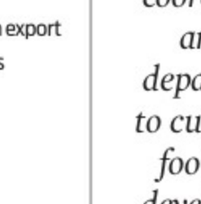
AN OPPORTUNITY TO SET CLEAN AIR AGENDA



MANOJ KUMAR
ANALYST, CENTRE FOR RESEARCH ON ENERGY AND CLEAN AIR

MOST Indian cities, particularly in the north, suffer from poor air quality throughout the year, with pollutant levels often exceeding National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS). Currently, northern India is enjoying a brief respite due to rainfall, which improves the Air Quality Index (AQI) to "good" or "satisfactory" levels. As the monsoon retreats, the pollution season begins, causing AQI levels to shift from "good" to "severe".

This transition is especially pronounced in the Indo-Gangetic Plain (IGP), where stagnant winds, frequent temperature inversions, high humidity, and low boundary-layer height trap pollutants, allowing them to accumulate and spread over large areas.

The IGP, which stretches across northern India from Punjab to West Bengal, is home to dense populations and intense anthropogenic activity, making it vulnerable to air quality degradation. However, it hardly becomes part of public discourse.

Along with the perennial air pollution sources, stubble burning in north Indian states like Punjab and Haryana spikes pollutant levels in the winter. In Haryana, the air quality in most of its cities stays in the poor category in the first half of the year, reducing life expectancy by many years. Sadly, it is not part of the ongoing assembly election campaign's issues.

The situation is further exacerbated by festive celebrations especially during Diwali, Dussehra, Christmas and the New Year, causing episodic surges in pollution, posing serious health risks to the millions living in the IGP region.

Way forward

Cities with non-compliance to NAAQS are widespread across IGP states rather than being limited to specific states, emphasising the need for an airshed approach. An airshed-based approach enables coordinated efforts across states and regions, tackling pollution at its source and mitigating transboundary impacts. It ensures a more holistic management of air quality, addressing the shared challenges of multiple cities under a unified strategy.

To manage this effectively, revision of the National Clean Air Programme (NCAP) must include an institutional framework with comprehensive authority to coordinate states, municipalities and agencies. This framework should enable integrated policies addressing all pollution sources, promote advanced air quality monitoring, facilitate transparent data sharing, and establish strict accountability and enforcement measures to achieve NCAP standards across the airshed.

Implementing stringent emission load limits and establishing progressively tighter reduction targets across all polluting sectors within the IGP airshed provides a comprehensive and phased approach to reducing pollution.

Graded Response Action Plans (GRAP) should be extended and implemented across all cities within the IGP states that exceed the NAAQS. This will ensure that cities facing air quality challenges, even those not classified as non-attainment, are systematically addressed.

Haryana with upcoming state assembly elections has an opportunity to include a clean air agenda. According to previous analysis by the Centre for Research on Energy and Clean Air (CREA), no city in Haryana has fallen within the annual PM10 NAAQS in the past three years.

Despite the mounting evidence that shows most cities in Haryana being the severely polluted in the country, only Faridabad has been included in India's flagship NCAP.

Other cities even though reeling under severe air quality issues are not mandated to have action plans to reduce pollution levels. Hence, there is an urgent necessity for addressing polluted cities during the revision of the NCAP.

Recently developed emission inventories show that industry is the largest contributor to PM2.5 pollution in Haryana, followed by open burning. Thermal power plants are identified to contribute a quarter of industrial emissions. Aside from the Mahatma Gandhi Thermal Power Station, most thermal power plants lack flue gas desulphurisation technology, which is essential for reducing emissions.

Most power plants that have not yet installed flue gas desulphurisation technology are likely to miss the revised installation deadline. Expediting, regulating and monitoring the installation of this technology, including penalising non-compliant plants, could significantly bring down the emission load from thermal power plants. Switching to cleaner technology in industries and transportation, strengthening waste management systems, and achieving zero paddy residue burning events could further reduce pollution load.

The Haryana State Pollution Control Board has already outlined comprehensive mitigation measures across all sectors in their winter action plan. However, the implementation and monitoring of these measures are at risk due to existing vacancies within the board. The Supreme Court has noted these vacancies and has mandated that they be filled by April 30, 2025. Despite this, the board is expected to confront the upcoming winter season without being fully equipped.

Given the persistent challenge of air pollution across Haryana, air quality must also be a priority for all political parties in the upcoming state assembly elections. Prioritising efficient functioning of the pollution control board and emission load based reduction at airshed level will not only resonate with voters but also pave the way for significant improvements in air quality.

DRAPES WITH DRAMA

Pull out your Kasavu saree this Onam and style it with a twist. We tell you how

MONIKA MONALISA

THE festive vibe is buzzing in the city as the Malayali community in Bengaluru gears up for Onam on Sunday. Apart from making last-minute preparations for the highlight, the delicious spread of Onasadhya, women are also pulling no stops to pull off a different look with the traditional Kasavu saree – synonymous with the occasion. But why stick to the conventional way of draping it when the number of styles one can come up with is more than just one?

Take, for instance, Rose Mary, a fashion curator, who will be pairing the Kasavu saree with a shirt. Sounds quite unusual at first but she is confident of carrying it off with ease. "Besides the classic traditional saree-blouse combo, I love wearing it with a shirt, which gives an easy-breezy feel. I improvise it with a baggy shirt or crop top," says Mary, who will be wearing a black saree with a white border and including some gold to have all the Onam colours.

For entrepreneur Susan Sunny, Kasavu sarees hold much significance not just during Onam but throughout the year. "This year, I am going in for an indo-edgy look. I will be pairing the saree with a black sports bra, a heavy choker and mallipoo (jasmine) in my hair, glass bangles and closed shoes. I will sign off the whole look with an unexpected pop of green in the form of my bag," says Sunny, whose go-to style for a Kasavu saree is 'maximalist'. She adds, "The saree is a beautiful and bare canvas to highlight anything and everything you want."

The popularity of this harvest festival has gone beyond the Malayali community and many non-Malayalis are interpreting the Kasavu saree in their own way. Ambika Nair, a Gujarati who was born and raised in Kolkata and is now married to a Malayali, includes all the cultures she has been exposed to in her dressing. "I always wear it with a twist – with a touch of embroidery or adding Gujarati-style lace to it to make it different. This year I am going to wear a Kasavu saree with hand-painted Gond art on it. I also like playing around with blouses by having a lot of embroidery and mirror work on them," says Nair, as she preps for the sadhya.

One of the important parts of putting together any look is accessories. It holds true for a Kasavu saree as well. "Accessories play a very important part especially if you are going in for a contemporary look. There are mango malas you could add to get the traditional look. When you are trying to make it contemporary, opt for minimal jewellery," says Anjali Arjun, a techie, who also suggests using a belt to put the look together.

FITBIT

PHALAKASANA CHAIR
(PLANK CHAIR)

This is one of the chair-supported variations of Phalakasana. In this pose, the chair acts as great support for beginners while cultivating strength in the body for the basic yoga poses. This stretching and strengthening supportive practice, can be included in yoga sequences for everyone. Runners or athletes with leg cramps find this practice restorative. It is a great practice for working professionals who spend a lot of time sitting at office desks.

STEPS

- Stand a few feet away from the chair in Tadasana (Mountain Pose). Practitioners who cannot stand in Tadasana can directly hold the chair.
- Step your feet back 1 - 2 ft. away from the chair.
- Place your hands on the back of the chair, straightening your legs and turning your thighs, as in Mountain Pose.
- Keep your back and legs straight and lean forward. Carefully transfer some of your weight to your hands as you lift your heels.
- Hold the chair, inhale, and stretch the entire body, balancing on the toes.
- Now begin to stretch slowly from the soles, calves, hamstrings, lower back, chest, shoulders, abdominal muscles, psoas, and hips.
- Remain in this posture for six breaths.
- Release and repeat to hold for six breaths or as per your capacity.
- Work on body strength and confidence. The deep stretch at the psoas is the most important, and learn to engage all these muscles to support the hips.
- Seniors who find this a challenge can choose to reduce the distance between the chair and them or just raise the torso holding the chair.

LIMITATIONS

- Students with lower back or hamstring injuries or who have done abdominal surgeries, should take it slow.
- Those with chronic shoulder, neck, arms, lower back, feet, knee, or ankle pain should practise it as per the body's capacity. Those with dizziness and BP, must be mindful of the practice.
- Students experiencing severe back pain, wrist fractures, carpal tunnel syndrome, vertigo, or heart-related issues, should avoid this.
- It can be added to yoga for seniors and pregnant women.

BENEFITS

- Helpful to people regaining strength after a prolonged illness.
- Creates confidence for balancing and enhances leg strength.
- Aids students with flat feet and alleviates Achilles tendon pain.
- Restorative treatment for plantar fasciitis.
- Stretching the hamstrings keeps the sciatic nerve active, reducing the pain.
- Works with the pain in the lower back and the hips.
- Strong hamstring muscles act as a great support to the hips and the upper body.
- Engages the muscles in the shoulders, arms, and wrists, enhancing upper body strength.
- Can be included in beginner yoga sequences, especially for seniors.
- Improves quadriceps, hamstrings and calf muscles while strengthening the knees and ankles joints.
- It can be done anywhere and anytime, making it a convenient yoga exercise for home workouts.
- It can also be done during break times in office hours.
- Alleviates symptoms related to piriformis syndrome, or plantar fasciitis.
- Included in Peak Pose Yoga sequences, Plank Chair helps prepare the body for other Plank Poses and variations.

Fill up your fruit bowl!

WHEN it comes to eating healthy, fruits are often at the top of the list. Packed with essential vitamins, minerals, fibre, and antioxidants, fruits offer a multitude of health benefits that make them an integral part of any balanced diet. Whether you're looking to boost your immune system, improve digestion, or simply satisfy your sweet tooth, incorporating the right fruits into your daily routine can make all the difference. Here are three fruits that should be your top choices for the day:

Kiwifruit

A nutrient-dense fruit, its health benefits have linked regular consumption to improvements not only in nutritional status but also benefits to digestive, immune and metabolic health. Kiwifruits are exceptionally high in vitamin C and contain an array of other nutrients, notably nutritionally relevant levels of dietary fibre, potassium, vitamin E and folate, as well as various bioactive components.

High levels of vitamin C in kiwifruit can improve iron bioavailability. It is often referred to as being a good source of dietary folate. As folate is extremely labile and its presence in green leafy vegetables is easily destroyed by cooking, fresh kiwifruit can make a useful contribution to the total diet, especially during pregnancy when it is difficult to meet folate requirements. During pregnancy, folate requirements are 600 µg/day, which can be safely achieved.

Blueberries

Blueberries contain a large number of phytochemicals, including abundant anthocyanin pigments. Of their various phytochemicals, anthocyanins make the greatest impact on blueberry health functionality. They contain anti-inflammatory and antioxidant actions and have beneficial effects on vascular and glucoregulatory function. Blueberry phytochemicals may affect gastrointestinal microflora and contribute to host health. They are also cardioprotective, which helps improve markers related to heart health and function.

Pomegranate

Different parts of pomegranate like seeds, peel, juice, and leaves are rich in potential bioactive compounds. These plants have found application in traditional medicine such as in the treatment of gastrointestinal, cardiovascular, and endocrine diseases, etc. It is a flavonoid-rich fruit with antioxidant properties. Pomegranate juice is a rich source of soluble polyphenols, including anthocyanins and tannins. These compounds have anti-inflammatory, antioxidant, anti-hyperlipidemic, and anti-hypertensive properties.

Best way to consume fruits

Keep in mind that fruits are always better to be consumed as whole fruits rather than juicing them.

In the case of juicing them, never add excess sugar as the fruit itself would contain its natural sweetness.

REFLECTS DEEP HUMAN CONNECTIONS AND HONOURS THE LEGACY OF DR RAJKUMAR

A SHARADHAA

KAALAPATTHAR
Director: Vikky Varun
Cast: Vikky Varun, Dhanya Ramkumar, T S Nagabharana, Rajesh Nataranga, Basu Hiremath, Kanthraj Kaddipudi, and Sampath Maitreya

IN a pivotal pre-climax scene of Kaalapatthar, a psychiatrist (played by Achyuth Kumar in a memorable cameo) shares a haunting parable with Shankara (Vikky Varun), a cook at the Border Security Force. He recounts the tale of Suresha and Ramesha, two friends who undertake a perilous trek and vow to complete it for each other. The story takes a dark turn when Ramesha dies, and Suresha, determined to honour their vow, buries him in ice. However, Ramesha's body mysteriously returns each morning, illustrating a relentless cycle that underscores Suresha's unbreakable bond with his friend. This parable serves as a powerful allegory, reflecting Shankara's deep attachment to a statue in the film.

Sathya Prakash, the writer behind this captivating story, weaves a rich tapestry of inner metaphors in Kaalapatthar. Vikky Varun's directorial debut skilfully brings Prakash's narrative to life, capturing the essence of deep connections and exploring the complexities of fixation and emotional persistence that define the human experience.

The film opens with a nostalgic tone, echoing Dr Rajkumar's classic song, 'Idu Yaaru Bareda Katheyo'. This initial impression is reinforced through recurring musical motifs and evocative imagery of the protagonist interacting with old photographs of Rajkumar.

The narrative unfolds against the backdrop of Mudalapura village, where each street carries symbolic names like 'Rajana Katte' and 'Sachin Beedi' and philosophical proverbs such as "Eesa beku, iddu jaisa beku" and "Kayakave Kailasa," which enrich the setting. These elements reflect a deep exploration of identity and legacy, offering a layered context for Shankara's emotional journey.

Shankara's transition from a cook at the BSF to being frontline in combating terrorists is marked by his bravery, earning him a grand tribute. His village decides to erect a statue in his honour, and senior figures, including Gowdru (Nagabharana), and the song 'Gorukana Gana' highlight the statue's significance. Despite financial challenges, the villagers use the titular black stone, Kaalapatthar, for the statue. MLA Puttaraju (Rajesh Nataranga) unveils the statue, and through his friends on social media, the story behind the statue garners widespread acclaim.

RATING 3.5/5

However, amidst the celebrations, political tensions rise, and villagers express frustration over unmet needs like water supply. Shankara, on leave and spending time with family, village friends, and his lover Ganga (Dhanya Ramkumar), remains dedicated to addressing these issues, reflecting his ongoing commitment to his community.

As the film progresses, Shankara's focus becomes obsessively fixated on the statue. What was once a symbol of his valour, transforms into an extension of his very being. He develops an almost supernatural connection with it, feeling every shift in weather as though it directly impacts him. This obsession drives him to enlist his friend's help in guarding the statue, preventing even the slightest intrusion, convinced that any harm to the statue reflects harm to himself. When a geologist suggests that water sources might be located near the statue, Shankara dismisses the advice, unable to escape the grip of his fixation.

This intense attachment and its consequences form the core of Kaalapatthar, exploring the boundary between honour and obsession and its impact on one's life. Vikky Varun's directorial debut offers a thought-provoking commentary on contemporary obsessions—whether with people or possessions. His narrative choice is both daring and insightful, capturing the psychological depths of attachment with a nuanced approach.

Integrating Dr Rajkumar's legacy through vintage photos and songs enhances the film's thematic resonance, illustrating how admirers elevate their idols to near-mythical status. Vikky, embodying Shankara, deviates from the conventional hero mould, fitting seamlessly into the film's reflective tone, Dhanya Ramkumar has a more substantial role than just being Shankara's love interest. Composer Anoop Seelin's varied soundtrack complements the narrative, imbuing it with patriotism and rural authenticity, while Sandeep Kumar's cinematography vividly conveys the film's emotional landscape.

Despite its strengths, the film encounters some hurdles, particularly in its portrayal of Shankara's inner turmoil. The buildup to his obsession feels somewhat underdeveloped, missing an opportunity to heighten the dramatic tension. The poignant finale, featuring Shankara's introspective session with a psychiatrist and his reverence for Dr Rajkumar, serves as a pivotal moment.

This film holds a special place for Dr Rajkumar's admirers, as it intricately stitches his legacy into its rich, symbolic narrative, ensuring that he remains evergreen to his fans. On the one hand, Kaalapatthar explores whether Shankara will rediscover his purpose and return to his service, providing a reflective conclusion to his journey. On the other, it examines if a stone—symbolising lasting bonds—can genuinely mirror our inner soul, convey our deepest feelings, and forge an enduring attachment.

Kareena Kapoor Khan embraces the gloom in this meticulous drama-thriller

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

THE BUCKINGHAM MURDERS
Director: Hansal Mehta
Cast: Kareena Kapoor Khan, Ranveer Brar, Prabhleen Sandhu, Keith Allen, Ash Tandon and Kapil Redekar

WHEN we first meet Kareena Kapoor Khan in The Buckingham Murders she is sitting on a public bench, dead-faced under a grey England sky. Her stardom nowhere in the frame. There are blink-and-miss flashbacks, of a sunny day, of a young boy laughing while running over the green grass, of a ball hitting the bowling pins, of red and blue police car lights, of Kareena with the same shell-shocked expression she is wearing now. We jump inside a court hearing. A young man confesses to opening fire inside a restaurant. Says he was tired of being invisible, says he didn't intend to shoot the child. Kareena is silent. She is in a corner of the frame when the judge sentences the boy guilty. It's only when he is being escorted by the cops, that she charges at him and let's out a long-held squeal.

Kareena plays Jaspreet Bhamra, a policewoman dealing with the grief of outliving her child. She takes a transfer to Buckinghamshire and is soon assigned to a case of a missing boy. She is hesitant at first but gives in on the insistence of her superior. The kid is soon found murdered. An investigation ensues to unravel the mystery, but it unveils more about the lives and troubles of immigrants in the UK. Secret liaison's start cropping up, faultlines of hatred float up to the surface. The murdered child was a Sikh, killed by a Muslim boy. More than a thriller, The Buckingham Murders is a portrait of southeast Asians in a colonial country. Those who seek the modernity of life but not necessarily of thought. The film in its setting and mood can feel borrowed and patched up from international small-town thrillers. Jaspreet's character takes its cue from Kate Winslet's Marianne Sheehan from the HBO series Mare of Easttown (2021). I was reminded of Clint Eastwood's Mystic River (2003) when the film got into the dynamics and the rifts inside a community. But there was something about Hansal Mehta's assured direction that swept me into the narrative. The Buckingham Murders doesn't feel like an Indian film but it certainly is for them.

RATING 3.5/5

This is something that Mehta has cracked. Talking to those back home while telling the story of a far-off land. In his last theatrical release Faraaz (2022), through the depiction of Muslim fundamentalism in Bangladesh he spoke more about the genesis and rise of fundamentalism in general than about pinning it on one religion. In The Buckingham Murders too, you can't help but draw parallels when there are news flashes of clashes between two communities over "misinformation." But all politics is in the backdrop. What Mehta gets is people and what they can do for love and for the one's they love. Jaspreet sleeps on the sofa with her boy's bloodied t-shirt in hand. From the lens of any other director, the scene might come out corny but Mehta handles it with care. Special mention also to cinematographer Emma Dalesman who captured England like the protagonist's state of mind, grey and heavy, like a cloud of grief waiting to burst.

Kareena gives a steady performance as Jaspreet. She embraces the character with tenderness and succumbs to Mehta's vision. She walks like a woman so desolate, so shattered that nothing could break her further but while listening to a suspect's confession, her hands tremble. An interesting choice is Mehta-regular Ranveer Brar--who plays the role of the dead boy's father--a temperamental misogynist with secrets. His act gives a whole new meaning to the chef's famous catchphrase: Fir mat kehna Ranveer ne btaya nahi (Don't say later than Ranveer didn't tell).

I won't call The Buckingham Murders a complex thriller but one that surely is dexterously layered. It's a microscopic view of characters and relationships. How societal structures suffocate people and create monsters. It doesn't say anything path-breakingly new. This week, I also reviewed Sector 36, another bleak film where children became victims of a broken society. Another film with borrowed aesthetics. The Buckingham Murders, however, is more than the mood and the style. In its search for the truth, it finds something better.

Manvith and Shravya Rao
